

BANKER NAMED MEXICAN ENVOY FACING PROBE

Senate Committee Members Anxious To Learn What Policy Dwight W. Morrow Favors.

MORGAN INTERESTS TO CAUSE INQUIRY

New Ambassador, Who Was Classmate of President at Amherst, Assumes Duties Soon.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, September 20.—(United News.)—The senate foreign relations committee, headed by Senator Borah, is expected to investigate the appointment of Dwight W. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan & Co., as American ambassador to Mexico.

While Morrow's ability is unquestioned, some desired to know how completely he is severing his relations with the Morgan house, which has heavy financial interests in Mexico. There also is a general desire to know what policy Morrow favors in dealing with the difficult oil and land law disputes. Friendly relations of the two countries as well as millions in American capital are at stake and some senators want to be fully informed before they vote on the appointment.

Morrow Takes Post Soon.
Morrow will go to his post soon and will serve pending confirmation of the appointment by the senate next winter. The announcement was a surprise here.

"It is a capital appointment," observed Senator Moses, New Hampshire, republican, and both interpretations found support.

In appointing Morrow, Coolidge picked one of his Amherst classmates and one of his most intimate advisers. Ever since Coolidge entered the white house Morrow has been a frequent visitor. He recently saw the president at Rapid City. When the aircraft controversy developed two years ago Morrow was called by the president to head a commission of inquiry and his report has been largely followed in subsequent legislation for development of the oil fields.

It has been frequently suggested that in time Morrow will succeed Andrew Mellon in the treasury. In announcing the appointment today the white house stated that Morrow was giving up his lucrative business connection to enter upon a public career.

Borah's Position.
Senator Borah, previously advised of the appointment, was guarded in his comment, saying:

"If Mr. Morrow is going to Mexico to carry out a policy of friendly co-operation, a policy looking to the adjustment of our controversies with Mexico upon peaceful and just lines and with due regard for the rights of all parties, I think he is in a position to do it."

FRANCE DEMANDS RAKOWSKY RECALL

French Also Ask Soviet To Cease Interference in Internal Affairs and Request Debt Parley.

Paris, September 20.—(AP)—Le Matin announced that the French government has officially informed the Russian soviet government that the recall of Christian Rakowsky as soviet ambassador to France is an indispensable condition to any negotiations between the two countries for a non-aggression pact.

Other conditions laid down by the French government, the paper states, are cessation of interference in French internal affairs by soviet agents or the third internationale, and early conclusion of negotiations for settlement of the question of the old Russian debts.

$302,000 Deficit Faced by Atlanta For Viaduct Work

Shortage Is Exclusive of $400,000 Contribution Originally Expected From Power Company.

$1,873,000 IS NOW ON TAP FOR WORK

Difference Between $2,175,000 Needed Must Be Raised Before Track Work Can Begin.

Available funds for construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts, exclusive of a contribution of $400,000 from the Georgia Power company, are $302,000 short of estimated actual cost of the structures and unless this amount is obtained from some source delay in beginning the projects was predicted Tuesday in city hall circles.

Actual available money for prosecution of the improvements totals only $1,873,000 instead of $1,930,000 as formerly figured, while estimated costs are $2,175,000.

Changes in costs of the structures are based partially on a report filed Tuesday with Frank H. Neely, chairman of the Atlanta bond commission, and William A. Hansell, chief of construction of the city of Atlanta, to the effect that property which the city must acquire to erect the bridges, will cost approximately $500,000 instead of $250,000, the city tax assessors' valuation.

A reduction of $24,000 in the $1,000,000 viaduct bonds which can be used for construction purposes has been made through certain damage settlements, thus leaving only $976,000 of the bond funds which can be applied to the actual cost of the projects.

Instead of allocating $450,000 to the projects as was first reported, receipts from railroads over which the bridges will extend will total only $397,000. This cuts the $1,430,000 to $1,873,000 including the $500,000 allocation from Fulton county, and registers a total reduction in estimated receipts of $57,000.

Appraisal Made.
A group of outstanding real estate men Tuesday submitted a valuation of the property which the city must acquire to erect the improvements to Mr. Neely as chairman of the bond commission. Instead of coinciding with the estimate or the valuation of the city tax assessors, it surpassed the estimate by from $175,000 to $350,000.

The city has never been able to purchase property on its assessed valuation, according to members of the city council, and it could not hope to acquire the property in question at the figures which the assessors placed on it even if condemnation proceedings are instituted.

Actual receipts, according to figures listed by the department of construction and the bond commission, follow:

City bonds, $976,000; railroads, $397,000; Fulton county, $500,000. Total, $1,873,000.

Estimated costs under the revised plan are as follows:

Construction costs, $1,325,000; property outlay, $500,000; and building replacements, $350,000. Total, $2,175,000. The only item in the costs which has been changed is the cost of property, which was raised $250,000, and which, according to some estimates of those making the appraisal for the bond commission, may even exceed that figure.

Even if the property could be acquired for the $250,000 estimate of the city tax appraisers, the city would still be short $250,000 of the total required to construct the project. The original cost estimate was $1,925,000 and the actual total receipts exclusive of a donation from the Georgia Power company are only $1,873,000. A difference of $52,000.

Deficit Faced.
This deficit must be retired in some manner before work can be begun on the improvements, according to a stipulation of the railroads involved. The

Youth Shoots Girl's Father, Slays Sister

Chicago Salesman Then Pleads His Love, Escapes Before Police Arrive.

Milwaukee, September 20.—(AP)—Shooting his way into the home of George T. Foley here tonight, Elmer Peterson, a 24-year-old Chicago salesman, pleaded his love for Kathryn, while her sister, Janet, lay dead in the front hall, and her father perhaps fatally wounded in another room.

Peterson arrived at the Foley home about 8 p. m. and told Janet, who answered the doorbell, he had come to see her sister. Advised he could not see her, Peterson opened fire, and continued shooting until he forced Kathryn into a room.

There, according to the story the girl told police, he pleaded his love for her, threatened to kill her if she did not marry him, and escaped just before the police arrived.

The shooting was the result of her father denying Peterson permission to see her, Kathryn told the police. She met Peterson several months ago, and while not refusing his suit, had not given him much encouragement, she said.

CHICAGO BANDITS OBTAIN $95,000 IN BANK HOLD-UP

Chicago, September 20.—(AP)—Two messengers of the First National Bank of Cicero were held up by six men armed with shotguns today and robbed of $95,000 which they were taking to another bank.

Officials of the bank later announced that the loot consisted of $200,000 in negotiable bonds, $100,000 in small bills and $50,000 in checks.

SPOKANE RACE BECOMES DUE OF TWO FLIERS

Leslie Miller Leads C. W. Meyer by Scant Minute After All-Day Battle in Air.

ACCIDENTS MAR GREAT AIR DERBY

Two Aviators, One of Them a Former Georgian, Killed; Bad Weather Cuts Down Field.

(BY UNITED NEWS.)
The trans-continental air race from New York to Spokane has resolved itself into a thrilling contest between two fliers who, from the very take-off at Roosevelt field Monday morning, to Glendive, Mont., have winged neck and neck across country.

Leslie Miller, piloting his Eagle-rock biplane No. 41, arrived at Glendive at 4:50 p. m. Tuesday, a scant minute ahead of C. W. Meyer, of Detroit, his rival for class 'B' honors.

Meyer Leads at Fargo.
The pair were leading a field of a score of planes of the original 25 which left New York. Miller was ahead at Cleveland, Chicago and St. Paul, but his rival beat him into Fargo, N. D., by two minutes.

Nine class 'A' planes, which left Roosevelt field Tuesday morning, rested for the night at St. Paul. Erving E. Ballough, of Chicago, was first to arrive there, landing at 2:14 p. m., seventeen minutes later came C. H. Holman, of St. Paul, and N. B. Mamer, of Spokane, was third, arriving an hour later.

At least eight of the class 'B' planes had reached Bismarck, N. D., the stop before Glendive, but it appeared that the pilots of these planes had little chance of overtaking either Miller or Meyer—unless accidents intervened.

Three planes were forced down at various places, one near Chicago, one at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., and another near Cleveland, but their occupants escaped injury.

Two Fliers Killed.
Tragedy, however, attended the start of the class 'A' race when a plane crashed at Long Valley, N. J., killing the pilot, R. E. Hudson, of Maryville, Mich., and his mechanic, Jay Radtke, of St. Clair, Mich.

The third section of the derby—the most thrilling—began from New York Wednesday morning when the class 'C' ships took off on an attempted non-stop flight to Spokane.

All fliers on schedule of strong head winds, biting cold and adverse flying conditions in general. At Chicago the aviators were given heavier clothing.

All ten class 'C' planes, Duke Schiller, of Royal Windsor, from Windsor, Ont., and Eddie Stinson, of Detroit, Mich., were expected to start.

RUM RUNNER HELD IN TRIPLE KILLING

Horace Alderman, Slayer of Robert Webster, of Atlanta, Is Indicted by Federal Grand Jury.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 20.—(AP)—A special federal grand jury here today indicted Horace Alderman, twice convicted rum runner of the lower east coast, and Robert Weech, an associate, on charges of murdering a secret service agent and two coast guardsmen August 7 when the federal officers were reported to have frustrated plans to make them "walk the plank" in true pirate fashion.

The government expects to try them in Miami in November.

Alderman, the indictments charged, murdered Robert K. Webster, of Atlanta, the secret service operative, and the coast guardsmen, Sidney Sanderlin and Victor A. Lamby. Weech was named in other murder indictments as an accessory.

Testimony before the jury, District Attorney William M. Guber said, disclosed "one of the most amazing episodes ever enacted on the high seas."

"It beat any dime novel ever written in color and brazen defiance of the law," the prosecutor continued.

Alderman, accompanied by Weech, was charged, was transporting a boat load of liquor about 40 miles southeast of Fort Lauderdale when the coast guard patrol boat, on the way to Bimini with Webster as a passenger, stopped him.

The government will bring up testimony, it was said, that Alderman seized an opportunity to shoot Sanderlin from behind, as he sat at his radio key reporting the capture to coast guard headquarters at Fort Lauderdale. Lamby was slain as he sought to assist Sanderlin. Then the crew of the patrol boat was lined up on deck, preparatory to what the government has been told was a scheme to force all survivors to walk the plank.

Webster, survivors of the boat's crew said, led a bare-handed attack on the rebellious captive as he menaced the crew with a gun in each hand. The secret service operative had seized one gun, but a bullet from the other killed him. Other members of the government party subdued the killer and brought both men back to the mainland.

MISSING GEORGIA PASTOR IN GRAND RAPIDS HOSPITAL; BIGAMY CHARGES ARE MADE

LEE CAPE, NEMESIS OF MOONSHINER, KILLED

"Most Feared" Georgia Officer's Career Ends

The slaying of W. L. Cape, Pickens county policeman, closed the career of "Georgia's most feared law enforcement officer, and a man who sought law violators 'for the pure love of the search.'" This was the verdict of prohibition officers here Tuesday as authorities continued the task of ferreting out all angles of the slaying which occurred last Saturday in Pickens county and which was discovered Monday when the body was found, decapitated, in Hartwood county.

For two score years one of the most dramatic figures in police circles of the state, W. C. Alfred, federal prohibition officer, Tuesday related many of the high lights of Cape's life, which ended in his sixty-second year, Alfred, along with several others, including Sheriff T. E. Johnson, of Pickens county, saw that it was to them that a confession was made by two of five men arrested in connection with the murder.

Hoyt Evans, one of those held, according to officers, has "confessed" that he saw his brother, Lindsey, place the body in the rear of a coupe. He denied seeing actual commission of the killing. The body was found some 42 miles from where officers believe it occurred. Lindsey Evans is the man for whom a search is still under way.

Grady Evans, brother of Lindsey and Hoyt Evans, was arrested late Monday charged with murder in connection with Cape's death. He was placed in Cherokee county jail at Canton, Ga., where he is being held without bail. This brings the total to five men in custody for the killing.

Lindsey Evans, who is still being sought, is believed to be hiding in the mountains about 25 miles from Jasper. Officials in Jasper concur in believing that Lindsey did the actual shooting.

As Mr. Alfred relates the slaying, following investigation he conducted in Pickens county along with others of that section, Cape last Saturday morning was driven out on the highway from Jasper by his grandsons and left in a deserted stretch along the road. The grandsons were told to drive on down the road to the "forks" and wait there until 3 o'clock that afternoon for Cape. The grandsons said he was to be taken to the place and waited until 5 o'clock and

GEORGE PROPOSED FOR PRESIDENCY

Attention of Capital Focused on Georgia Senator as Claims of Dixie Are Advanced.

Washington, September 20.—(Special.)—Democratic members of the senate and house who are in Capitol Hill are discussing with a great deal of favor the claim from the south that that section should provide the next democratic candidate for the presidency.

The trend of the nation's population, they say, is toward the south.

It is becoming America's great barn and smokehouse.

It is the exclusive producer of the world's one largest farm commodity.

It is rapidly becoming the nation's greatest industrial section.

In pointing out these facts the members discussing convention forecasts also point out the harmony that exists between the south and all the other sections of the United States, and the fact that the south is the foundation rock of the democratic party. It has had no candidate since the Civil war, but it has remained the one and only solid phalanx of the party through all of these decades.

Senator George Considered.
Turning to the south for a possible candidate attention is being focused upon Senator Walter B. George, of Georgia, who is a national leader, personally known and liked in every section of the country.

During the presidential campaign of 1924 he spoke in the larger cities of the east to large audiences and was accepted.

SCHOOL PROJECTS SPEEDED BY BOARD

Members in Tilt Over Submitting Drawings To Review Body Before Sanctioning Them.

Another chaotic outbreak featured the adjourned session of the September meeting of the Atlanta board of education Tuesday afternoon, when that body was deadlocked for more than an hour in a heated debate regarding action of the Atlanta bond commission in insisting that detailed drawings for standardization of schools in the city be submitted to a committee of five members of the National Building Owners' association for review.

Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president of the board, and Jim Maddox, commissioner from the fifth ward, engaged in a lively verbal tilt during the debate over whether plans for five school projects which already have been approved by the board and the commission and which are now in the hands of contractors for bids, should be withdrawn or whether contractors should continue their work of compiling the bids regardless of probable change which the reviewing board might insist upon.

Commissioner Roy D. Warren, of the tenth ward, failed in his attempt to get the drawings withdrawn and the board adjourned without sanctioning the plans.

Dr. Eubanks said supporting the Warren resolution on the grounds

MINISTER ADMITS IDENTITY; PLANNED ANOTHER WEDDING

Rev. Willis J. Jordan Received at Michigan Institution When Symptoms Indicate Typhoid Fever.

FIRST WIFE DEAD, HE TELLS POLICE

Refuses To Reveal Who His Prospective Bride Is; Was Waiting Five Days To Procure License

Grand Rapids, Mich., September 20.—(AP)—Admission that he is the Rev. Willis J. Jordan, missing Methodist minister of Columbus, Ga., was made to Chief of Police A. A. Carroll tonight by a man registered at the St. Mary's hospital here as the Rev. Willis J. Gordon.

Chief Carroll quoted Jordan as admitting that he is the missing minister, and that he had come here to be married, although his wife is living at Columbus.

The Rev. Mr. Jordan, who said he reached Grand Rapids last Friday night, was taken to the hospital Saturday night when he developed a high fever and other symptoms of typhoid fever. Registering there under the name of "Gordon" he gave a Grand Rapids address.

Carroll declared that Jordan answered when asked if it was his first marriage. "No, I've got—I had a wife. I have two daughters and a son, but they are scattered now," adding that his wife had died. The missing pastor's plan, he further revealed, was to be married as soon as the five days necessary for getting a license had expired. He refused to reveal the identity of the prospective bride, the police head said, but asserted that she is a "conscientious church worker."

The minister added that he was a native of Missouri, had graduated from Scarritt college, of Kansas City, had been a licensed minister for 35 years and had conducted revival meetings in several parts of the country.

Grand Rapids officials have notified Columbus police, but have placed no charge against the Rev. Mr. Jordan.

The project would form the nucleus of a "Missionary Park," it was said by officials of the association, which is a new organization in the process of formation. Meetings are being held in various parts of the country in the interests of the enterprise.

CONCILIATORY NOTE CABLED TO FRANCE

Washington, September 20.—(AP)—A renewed American proposal for negotiation of a most-favored-nation commercial treaty to cover trade exchanges has been communicated to Paris in an effort by the state department to avert a tariff war with France.

The note was said today in official circles to have been framed in the hope that France would find it possible, once a complete explanation of the American viewpoint had been presented at the foreign office, to eliminate discrimination imposed against American goods by new tariff schedules. The American hope even extends to early elimination of these duties pending negotiation of a commercial pact founded on unconditional most-favored-nation treatment.

Note Is Argumentative.
The American note is said to be highly argumentative in character and to outline fully both the principles of international relationship upon which the American tariff act is based and specific provisions of that statute. It is conciliatory in language, even in pointing out that French proposals for negotiation of a tariff reciprocity treaty are wholly unsatisfactory in view of the injunction laid upon the government by congress for the equal treatment of all nations in tariff questions.

Study At Night.

provided there is no discrimination by any nation against American goods. Between the lines of the American note and in the specific authorization for counter discrimination contained in section 317 of the tariff act and to which reference is made in French official documents will find a definite decision by the Washington administration not to submit without retaliation to what it regards as discrimination against American goods made effective by the new French schedules.

Publication Withheld.
Publication of the American note has been withheld pending a French reply. If the reply is unfavorable, the state department in all likelihood will publish the complete correspondence on the subject with France in order that the American public may be fully informed as to the situation and support whatever steps the government decides to take.

The note stresses that the American objection is not to the rate of duty, which is looked upon officially as a matter of French internal policy, but only to the discrimination against American goods as compared with those imported from other countries with which France has preferential tariff arrangements by treaty or by special understanding. It is pointed out that France now alone discriminates against American goods and also that the tendency of the world is against discriminatory tariffs as was emphasized in the recent economic conference at Geneva.

SCHOOL PROJECT SPEEDED BY BOARD

that bids submitted under the present drawings probably would of necessity be invalid after changes are made in the plans in accordance with suggestions of the reviewing commission.

Delays Opposed.
Mr. Maddox led the opposition to further "delays" in the work, and launched a fiery attack on the bond commission for what he branded an "extra delay in a long chain of red tape." This board should not submit to any such dictation by the bond commission, Mr. Maddox said. "We are not going to do so under the rules of the board or under our charter rights. I am willing to have the drawings checked in any way which is reasonable and feasible, but I will not subscribe to another moment's delay in starting this work."

Dr. Eubanks, Mr. Warren and others contended that the bond commission would fail to approve contracts for any of the projects unless they are checked by the extraordinary board of review, in accordance with a stand taken Tuesday morning at a meeting of the bond commission at Frank H. Neely's office, Mr. Neely is chairman of the bond commission.

When the board took a vote on the Warren issue, it stood five and five against, and Commissioner V. W. Gaines, who was called to the chair while Dr. Eubanks supported the measure, declared it a tie.

Election Thursday.
Definite action on the proposition is expected to be taken Thursday afternoon at a special called session of the board, when Mr. Neely will publish the complete correspondence before the board.

Projects immediately affected by the ruling of the bond commission are new schools for Stannard, Davis, Ormeau and Capitol View, and an addition to Hoke Smith Junior High school.

Dr. Eubanks and others contended that the bond commission seeking to save money on the standardization by avoiding any possibility of technical mistakes.

A committee seek a location for the Wesley avenue negro school named. Mrs. Paul West, Mrs. A. E. Wilson and George Powell make up this committee.

Mr. Powell, W. D. Hoffman and Mrs. West are a committee to investigate the purchase of additional land at the William A. Bass Junior High school.

No action was taken on council's rejection Monday of equipment totaling $40,396, which was submitted by the board and which would have been purchased from bond funds. The matter will be considered Thursday.

SLAYER PLEADS SELF DEFENSE

ment, in which he accused Gibby of stabbing him when Gibby and Garrett jumped on him. An employee from the funeral parlors of Harry G. Poole, undertaker, was next and described the wounds on Thwaites' body, stating that one cut 14 inches long was on an arm.

Thwaites' widow was the last witness for the state before resting. She identified a pocketbook found in the wrecked car as belonging to her husband. The pocketbook was empty when found, it was said.

Garrett took the stand first for the defense. He said that the car was wrecked while Thwaites was driving, with Gibby sitting on the front seat and himself on the back seat. Immediately after going over the embankment, Gibby suggested that they call a wrecker and have the car pulled out, and in arguing over this Thwaites became angry and knocked Gibby down, he said. Garrett testified that he took the role of peacemaker, and separated the pair, after which Thwaites knocked Gibby down again. Gibby then climbed to the road, and Thwaites followed. More words ensued and Gibby was knocked down again, this time with his hands on top of him, Garrett said. The cutting followed, and Thwaites got up, walking off in the direction of the fair grounds, while the defendants ran the other way, he said.

Garrett said that Thwaites bought two pints of liquor on Humphries street, Thwaites was a large man, standing 5 feet high and weighing 260 pounds, the witness said. Under cross-examination, Solicitor General Boykin sought to establish that Gibby and Garrett did not tell anyone of the cutting, but Garrett said he told a friend named Bill Duncan the next morning. He denied knowing there was blood in the automobile, and was unable to explain how Thwaites came to be cut in the back other than to say he saw Gibby "reaching up cutting him."

Asked why the lights were on in his home, where Gibby also lives, at 3 o'clock in the morning following the stabbing, Garrett said that he did not know the lights were on or that anyone was stirring about. He also denied that Gibby had burned his clothes after the stabbing.

Gibby Testifies.
Gibby then went on the stand. He said that he is 18 years old and weighed 120 pounds on the night of the slaying, though he has gained 20 pounds while in jail. His story was that he and Garrett went to the slaying, and that he was in the latter called at their home, and in order to avoid him, went to Henry Vinson's place nearby. Thwaites followed them there, and kept insisting that they go riding with him. Thwaites was drunk and they did not wish to make him mad, so they went along, Gibby testified.

Gibby said that Thwaites was driving 30 miles an hour around a sharp curve near Lakewood Park in spite of his warning, and the car went over the embankment. When he suggested that they call a wrecker, Thwaites said he didn't want the police around, and accused him of holding the car down and causing the wreck, Gibby declared. When Thwaites knocked him down and Garrett separated the pair, Thwaites warned Garrett to keep his hands off, and threatened to kill Gibby, he said. On the third knockdown, Thwaites, on top, said: "I'll kill you—you, I've fooled you you long enough." Gibby believed his life was in danger, and accordingly he drew a knife and began fighting Thwaites.

Solicitor General Boykin drew from Gibby admission that he had at one time carried brass knuckles, although Gibby denied that knuckles found in the car were his. Gibby said he fought a boy named Lester Akin with brass knuckles on Stewart avenue some time ago, but that the knuckles belonged to Joe Richardson, and that he gave them back to Richardson after the fight, which had been caused by Akin cursing him.

"Isn't it a fact that you sold Thwaites liquor, and everybody else liquor?" Boykin asked. "No, sir," Gibby replied. To Mr. Boykin's questions as to why he did not stop stabbing Thwaites when he saw Thwaites take his hand out of his pocket, Gibby replied that Thwaites kept his hand in his pocket all the time the cutting was taking place.

Gibby's father, W. M. Gibby, admitted on the stand that he was under suspended sentence for liquor, law violation, but denied that Thwaites came to his house looking for liquor on the fatal afternoon. J. C. Harrison, W. W. Duncan and Henry Y. Vinson were the closing witnesses for the defense, after Mrs. Garrett testified that her husband and brother were led off by Thwaites. Duncan said that Gibby informed him of the cutting on the following morning, while Vinson said that Thwaites made Gibby and Garrett take a ride with him.

DEMOCRACY CONSIDERS GEORGE FOR PRESIDENT

corded stirring ovations everywhere because of his dignity, pleasing manner, conservatism, thoughtfulness and force of eloquence. During the congressional campaigns of 1926 he spoke throughout the west with equal force and reception.

They point to the further fact that while a day to the left, he is a fanatic or an extremist. He is a devout member of the Baptist church, but is tolerant of all denominations and faiths.

Popular In Senate.
On the floor of the senate there is not a more popular member than the plan of the senator, a more respectful hearing or yields a more powerful influence.

There is nothing in the nature of a boom for Senator George, but the discussion of the possibility of his nomination, if his name goes before the convention is widespread and serious. It has gone much further than that in the former discussions of southern possibilities since the discussion of Senator Underwood, of Alabama, in the fall of 1917 which evoked in his announced candidacy for the nomination of 1912.

If Georgia presents Senator George's name to the 1928 convention it is generally believed that he will become far more than a "favorite son." If he should be nominated democratic members now here agree that he will be a strong candidate in both the east and the west. Of course he would sweep the solid south.

companies have agreed to make their contribution on the condition that all the money necessary to carry on the project be raised by the city and that the completion is in sight.

Just what effect the revised estimate of costs will have on the donation from the railroad is not known, but the agreement was that all the money to complete the project must be in sight before the roads would permit lowering of the tracks to begin.

City council Monday authorized Mr. Hansell to advertise for bids for construction of the tracks just as soon as the detailed drawings are received, but it was not known Tuesday night whether the roads will allow work of lowering to commence before all financial matters incident to erection of the bridges have been arranged.

Dobbs Passes Paper.
Mayor P. C. W. G. Dobbs Tuesday signed the paper authorizing the chief to advertise for bids, and the detailed drawings are expected the latter part of this week or the first part of next.

Frederick S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power company, Saturday announced that if a deficit appeared, and the city is not able actually to construct the bridges without assistance of the company we will make up the deficit and will not ask any concession from the city or will not seek any condition on which the money shall be advanced.

Mr. Arkwright was out of the city Tuesday night, and could not be reached for a statement as to whether his offer would extend to purchase of real estate incident to the construction or whether he intended to limit it to the construction of the viaducts. Other officials of the company would not venture an interpretation Tuesday night.

William B. Hartsfield, chairman of the bridge committee, who Saturday morning submitted a newly revised plan on which it was said the company would be willing to make the $400,000 contribution, declared Tuesday night that he would "look into the matter more fully today."

New Proposal.
The new proposal carried exclusively Sunday morning in The Constitution contained three major changes from the old compromise measure on which the bridge committee failed to act.

Under the new plan only jitneys and busses would be barred from competition with the Georgia Power company or its assigns, city council would be the sole reasonable judge of when in the interest of public convenience and necessity that the agreement to bar jitneys and busses should be abrogated, and the third change was that if the city did void the agreement, it should pay to the company $200,000 instead of the $400,000 which the company would contribute to structures.

"We are hoping that the estimates are too high, and that the structures can be erected at a much less cost than the figure which has been quoted," Mr. Hartsfield said. "Mr. Walter Shultz, of Memphis, told me when he was here that he had let several contracts recently for as much as 15 per cent less than the estimates."

Councilman Wiley Moore, of the seventh ward, Sunday morning favored the plan which Mr. Hartsfield laid before the committee last Saturday in the executive session of the bridge committee. He termed it a "reasonable and feasible solution" of the financial problem of raising adequate funds to assure erection of the bridges without a deficit.

then upon failure of the officer to appear he went to Jasper for aid and a search was immediately instituted. The grandson said about 4 o'clock that afternoon he heard five shots in the direction that his grandfather had gone in search of "moonshiners."

Body Put in Casket.
According to the theory of Allred and other investigating officers, Cape was killed at or near the still, his body then placed in the rear of a light colored automobile and then driven over the Dixie highway through Pickens and Gordon county, and into Bartow where the body was removed. Then all the clothing was removed from it except the man's socks and the body decapitated, the officers believe, as the body was found some distance from a little-traveled road, the head some 300 yards further away and the clothing some distance in another direction.

Lindsey Evans, the man sought now, was under indictment on a liquor distilling charge, following arrest some time ago by Cape officers, say the other four men, C. L. Smith, Hoyt Evans, Carter Wilson and Carter Jones, have been brought here for safe-keeping while Mrs. Hoyt Evans and Grady Evans are being held at Canton, Ga.

Local prohibition workers recall that Cape was a strong worker in the Methodist church and declare that he was a man of strong convictions and "played no favorites."

It is pointed out that on one occasion he arrested one of his sons for a federal offense and the son later entered a plea of guilty and was fined.

The officer was widely feared, they say, because of his tenacity in running down rum-runners and bootlegers.

24-Hour Officer.
It is recalled that the federal office here that "Cape was a 24-hour day officer, lying in the ground many nights covered only by a blanket, while snow, sleet and rain fell, in order to capture a rum-runner."

He often reflected that his enemies would some day get him, but he always added, "Well, when they do I'll be so old I won't have lost many years anyway."

He was known here as one of the best officers in the state at making arrests look easy. Officers point out that he had a "quiet, fatherly and pleasant manner" in making arrests and counted many of the men he took into custody as his best friends.

The federal authorities say that it was common for him to engage in battle with rum-runners and distillers and recall that only two years ago he was assisting a county officer in Gordon in making a raid when a lively rum battle ensued in which the Gordon officer was killed.

Cape killed one man during the forty years he was an officer. That occurred in a liquor battle some five years ago.

His associates say that it was long a "joke" among them over his answer to persons he halted to search when they asked him to produce a search warrant. They recall that he always instantly unsheathed his pistol and told them "here's the warrant."

It is also a matter of record that his name was so widely feared by law violators that a number of automobiles were stolen by persons impersonating him. One of their tricks was to drive up to a car which they believed was a rum-runner and say: "Here's Lee Cape."

Usually the occupants were said to have left the machine hurriedly and never to have returned in search of the liquor laden car.

One incident as told by Allred recounts the resources of the officer on

BIG CROWD GATHERS AT CAPE'S FUNERAL

Jasper, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—W. J. Cape, Pickens county officer, was buried today at Hinton, about 10 miles from here, when one of the largest crowds ever to attend a funeral in this section gathered to pay their final respects to the veteran enforcement officer.

Law and order, which the slain officer was endeavoring to uphold when he was shot down late Saturday afternoon while he is believed to have been attempting to search an automobile for liquor, was represented by many enforcement officers, including Sheriff Gaddis, of Bartow county; Sheriff Cochran, of Gordon county; Sheriff Saunders, of Cobb county, and many other officials.

Friends from every part of this section listened while Colonel Sam Tate, of Tate, Ga., told how Mr. Cape was "one of the staunchest enforcers of the law his country ever had."

The funeral services were conducted by the Reverend Mr. Cook. Mr. Cape leaves his wife and four children, two sons and two daughters.

Lindsey Evans, who is charged with the slaying, has not been apprehended, although his arrest is expected soon. Local officers state that they had information Evans is hiding about 20 miles southwest of Jasper.

ATLANTA INCLUDED IN GOOD WILL TRIP

Felts Field, Spokane, Wash., September 20.—(AP)—Plans for a "good will" tour across the United States, down the Pacific coast and back to the Atlantic seaboard, preparatory to the Ford reliability tour of 1928, were announced today by J. T. Whitaker, aeronautical and automotive engineer in charge of development for the Tidewater Oil company.

Starting here after the close of the national air races this week, with Eddie Stinson, of Detroit, as pilot, and Ray Cooper, secretary for aviation of the Detroit, Mich., Board of Commerce and district governor of the National Aeronautical association, the trip will be made in the Stinson-Detroiter plane to be flown here by Stinson in the New York-Spokane non-stop race.

Arrangements are to be made at the cities visited for the Ford reliability tour of next year, which will be identical with a part of the trip. The itinerary of the flight was announced by Whitaker as follows:

Spokane, Yakima, Seattle and Tacoma, Wash.; Portland, Eugene and Medford, Ore.; Corning, Sacramento, San Francisco, Oakland, Merced, Fresno, Bakersfield, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and San Diego, Calif.; Yuma, Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.; Deming, Albuquerque and Sumner, New Mexico; El Paso, Big Springs, Abilene and Fort Worth, Texas; Tulsa, Okla.; Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo.; Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, Ala.; Atlanta, Columbus and Augusta, Ga.; Columbia, Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C.; Lynchburg, Richmond and Norfolk, Va.; Baltimore, Md.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Plainfield, N. Y.; Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind.; Louisville, Ky.; Toledo, Ohio; Grand Rapids and Detroit, Mich.

The route of next year's reliability tour, Whitaker said, will lead from Detroit to Chicago, St. Paul or Minneapolis, Aberdeen, or Fargo, N. D.; Miles City and Butte, Mont.; Spokane and thence to St. Louis along the route of the proposed flight. Thence it will lead to Indianapolis, Toledo and back to Detroit.

To Avoid Engine Repair Bills

Wise motorists check their ignition when the engine falls short of the fine performance that it once had.

Many times expensive repair bills are incurred and it is afterwards found that all that was needed was a new set of spark plugs. This for the reason that spark plugs in time deteriorate and need to be replaced.

This is the simplest, safest and least costly thing to do before authorizing extensive repairs or adjustments.

When you buy spark plugs, be sure to insist on AC—the spark plug on which Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Ryd and other great flyers staked their lives—then you will be sure of perfect spark plug performance.

Your dealer has the right type and size for your engine.—(adv.)

Bible Doubters Again Scored by Judge Luke

While more than 200 persons Tuesday night were hitting the sawdust trail in the revival services being conducted at the St. Paul Methodist church by Judge Roscoe Luke, of the Georgia court of appeals, George T. Bush, Atlanta, scored the prominent "preacher layman" for his attack Sunday on those who question the immaculate conception.

Judge Luke spoke to a crowded house and again called on modernists to "find a way of salvation except through the cleansing blood of Christ, the Saviour of men and the hope of the world."

He continued his vindictive and fiery thrusts at sin and launched a new tirade against lawlessness which he declared is fostered by those who "question" the Bible.

His only comment on the Bush attack was "I have no answer to a man who denies the Bible, and no time to enter into a theological controversy; I'm too busy trying to save souls."

The noted jurist speaks at 10 o'clock each morning and at 7:30 o'clock each night with the exception of Saturdays where there are no services.

Extensive preparations to give a "challenge to the devil," to tell Atlanta again of the way of salvation and to invite the south's Gate City to enlist in the army of God to combat the forces of evil in America were being made Tuesday night.

Alderman Robert F. Pennington and members of the auditorium committee of city council have tendered the building to Judge Luke on account of the overflowing houses which have crowded into St. Paul church this week. The meetings will close officially Sunday night at a service at the church.

"During the past week considerable space has been allocated to the erudite utterances of one, Judge Luke, 'lay preacher,' who is conducting a series of revival meetings styled as a 'fight against evil in Atlanta,' Mr. Bush said.

"I have nothing to say against Judge Luke's brand of theology, though it does appear to be archaic and fossilized to my modernist; that is a matter between him and his God. I do not question his right to expound his beliefs, nor to lead others into a way of thinking; that also, comes under the head of his own business."

"When, however, he begins to impute to those who have the temerity to disagree with him, insincerity and desire for personal advancement, it is time that some one took issue with even so learned a jurist. He states, as reported in our issue of Sunday, September 18, that 'We find men today, even in the pulpit, who question the immaculate conception and birth of Jesus Christ and doubt His resurrection. Do you know why they do that? It is to attract attention to themselves, and it is the power of the devil that is developing the bush of egotism in their withered hearts, that leads them to have this attitude toward God's truth. They expect to be lauded as great intellectuals."

"There is a numerically small and intellectually large body of people in this country of ours, known as Unitarians, who hold exactly the belief with which the Reverend Judge Luke issues. They are as sincere in their belief as he is in his, and have no desire to be 'lauded as great intellectuals' simply to wish to be classed as morons."

"Belonging to this small collection of independent thinkers are the leaders in American thought and culture from the lines of John F. and Thomas Jefferson down to William Howard Taft, chief justice of these United States. Have such men as these 'withered hearts' or do they desire to be 'lauded as intellectuals?'"

"Brother Luke also lays considerable stress on the 'immaculate conception and birth of Jesus Christ.' The doctrine of immaculate conception as propounded by the Roman Catholic church means that the Virgin Mary was conceived without sin. He probably has reference to the virgin birth of Jesus, which is recorded by Matthew and Luke, thus being no similar to, however, between these two accounts, Mark and John do not record it, and Paul, the leading proponent of the Christian religion, makes no mention of it."

"Far be it from me to enter into a theological discussion with so learned a protagonist as Judge Luke. All that I ask is that those who differ with him be granted the same sincerity in their 'unbelief' as he is in his belief."

"Because of the good things God has given us—health, reason, love and others—we should present ourselves to Him for service," Judge Luke declared Tuesday night.

"The greatest and most unforgivable sin of men is ingratitude for mercies of a gracious God. He has equipped us to labor in His vineyard and exhorts us to bring in our sheaves of saved souls."

FOUR WIVES LAID TO MINISTER

home in Atlanta to confer with members of the congregation concerning the case.

A "long distance telephone" wedding two years ago, in which his wife here was the bride, figured in Reverend Jordan's marital experiences, as related by Gloor. The detective quoted Mrs. Jordan as saying that they were married while she was in Washington, D. C., and he in Birmingham, Wis., the officiating clergyman performing the ceremony from the Birchwood end of the line.

Remarried in August.

Later, she said she told her preacher-husband that she was not satisfied with the telephone nuptials, and they were remarried in Charlotte, N. C., by a justice of the peace on August 19, last.

Gloor's report to the police told of information in his firm's possession purporting to show that Reverend Jordan's first wife lived at Winona, Minn., where she sent him a check for $30 which he used to help defray his expenses from here to Cincinnati.

In July, 1926, Detective Gloor charged the minister was married to Mrs. W. V. Snyder, in Herndon, Wis. His alleged wife at Winona and Akron were not named, but Gloor said West Virginia officers had been informed of the case.

Mystery is Cleared.

The mystery surrounding Reverend Jordan's disappearance was cleared up as far as local authorities were concerned, several days ago when Gloor reported he had obtained evidence that the minister's disappearance was connected with the name of W. J. Jordan, the day he dropped out of sight, and early the next morning bought a railroad ticket for Cincinnati under a clergyman's permit made out in the same name.

To local ministers who endorsed the check he was said to have introduced himself as a traveling evangelist, explaining that the money had been sent him by a "lady friend." The check was drawn on a Winona, Minn., bank.

No word as to his whereabouts was obtained, however, until the reports today saying he had been found in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The Reverend Jordan came here three weeks ago with his wife from Birchwood, where he formerly was himself as a traveling evangelist. He occupied the pulpit of the Second Avenue church only two weeks when he disappeared last Wednesday night.

He was released last Saturday, however, when Gloor made his disclosures.

In the subsequent investigation, launched when Mrs. Jordan expressed fears that her husband had met with foul play, the Reverend A. V. Nobles, who had been ousted from the church and whom Reverend Jordan succeeded, was arrested on a charge of kidnapping. He was released last Saturday, however, when Gloor made his disclosures.

Officials would be advised by telegram that Pilot Jack Rand, flying the monoplane Miss Southern California, from San Diego, would arrive here late today in preparation for the start of the non-stop flight tomorrow. Edward Mulligan, motor expert for the Wright Aeronautical company, also received a telegram stating that Glenn Romkey, of Lomax, Ill., would compete. Romkey was reported to have left Lomax for Richmond, Va., this morning.

Tomorrow's race promises to be unique because Stinson, in striving to beat Schiller, will be competing against a plane designed and built by himself. The Royal Windsor was designed by Stinson especially for a flight by Schiller and Phil Wood from Windsor, Canada, to Windsor, England. The proposed Windsor-to-Windsor hop, however, was canceled recently because of the agitation against trans-ocean flight arising from the loss of lives in such flights over the Atlantic and Pacific.

Discussing the forthcoming race today, Stinson told newspaper men he would fly along a route stretching about 2,300 miles. He said he would follow a great circle course, which, he explained, would really be a straight line across the continent. This course would take him over Canada on the stretch between Buffalo and Detroit.

Stinson said, however, that his plane would not pass over principal cities en route. He will pass Buffalo 40 miles to the south and will fly about 100 miles north of Detroit.

Continuing westward he will fly 60 miles north of St. Paul and "fairly close" to Rismarck, N. D., thence in a direct line to Feltz field at Spokane.

BANKER TO FACE SENATE INQUIRY

sition to render a public service of incalculable value. His known ability will enable him to perform a real and distinct service. My own feeling turns entirely upon what I would regard as the policy of this government toward Mexico. I think Mr. Morrow would carry out the policy of the government."

Borah is understood to feel that the administration is entering upon a more conciliatory policy toward Mexico than prevailed under the previous Ambassador James R. Sheffield, who resigned when Washington refused to back up his dictatorial attitude. Coolidge first indicated a more moderate policy in his address at the United States dinner last spring.

While Borah is somewhat friendly to Morrow and has found him sympathetic toward recognition of Russia, and more liberal than some of his associates, the extreme delay in the Mexican situation leaves some doubts still to be answered.

Debt of $400,000,000.

Mexico has an external debt of slightly more than $400,000,000, practically all of which has been funded under an agreement with the international committee of bankers headed by Thomas Lamont, an associate of Morrow in the Morgan firm. Mexico has been keeping up her payments, but occasionally there is some uneasiness in Wall street due to frequent disturbances in Mexico. Next January Mexico is to begin annual payments of $2,000,000 on other obligations covered in the Lamont agreement.

Dr. Julius Kleib, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce said Morrow's appointment should be of great assistance to American business men entering upon Mexico trade.

Some thought this psychological factor would operate in spite of anything Morrow could do to allay suspicion. They feel that the chief trouble the United States is having south of the Rio Grande is with a state of mind, that all of the difficulties arise out of deep-rooted suspicion that the United States is playing the game of American capital without regard to the rights of weaker nations.

SENATORS DIFFER OVER APPOINTMENT.

Washington, September 20.—(AP.)—Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, both of the republican insurgent group, today expressed the opinion that selection of Dwight Morrow as ambassador would tend to clear away misunderstandings with Mexico.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, however, said he believed Morrow would be confirmed by the senate, while another democrat, Fletcher, of Florida, said he was sure Mr. Morrow had the "ability and qualifications" required for the position.

It was an open secret that some members of the foreign relations committee desired additional light as to what policy the administration intended to pursue toward Mexico under Mr. Morrow's ambassadorship. Some of them also indicated that they would want to know from Mr. Morrow personally whether he had severed for all time his connection with Morgan and company. If a majority should take the same view, the new ambassador and state department officials would be called before the committee for questioning of these points.

WALL STREET INDORSSES MORROW'S APPOINTMENT.

New York, September 20.—(United News.)—Wall street promptly demonstrated its approval of Dwight Morrow's appointment as United States ambassador to Mexico.

The first reaction to the announcement came in a sudden spurt in Mexican bonds of $1.25 to nearly $4. The issues were more active than at any time this year.

Oil and mining stocks and bonds also were firmer on the stock exchange and much of the buying could be traced to belief that selection of Morrow would be a big boon to these industries, particularly with regard to American investors who now have money tied up in Mexican ventures.

Morrow's connection with the firm of J. P. Morgan has led him to make a detailed study of the Mexican situation, and in Wall street's opinion, he is the one man fitted to bring order out of chaos in that country.

The Mexican debt runs around $400,000,000, of which Americans hold securities approximating $140,000,000.

MRS. MAE B. BROOKS RITES HELD IN SPARTA

Sparta, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Funeral services were conducted here this morning for Mrs. Mae Burwell Brooks, 65, in the home of her brother, William H. Burwell. Burial was in the Sparta cemetery.

Mrs. Brooks died Sunday in a sanitarium in Alabama. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Pearson, pastor of the Sparta Presbyterian church. She leaves two sons, W. H. Burwell of Sparta and Miami, Fla., and the Rev. Henry Burwell, of Dallas, Texas.

PERSHING BOOMED FOR LEGION HEAD

day with rumors that a Pennsylvania had been stabbed, but the police had no report of such an affair.

The Red Cross hospital has treated only two black eyes, whose owners declined to discuss their origin.

The hospital is mostly busy treating blisters and fallen arches suffered in the big parade.

General Pershing, Marshal Foch and General Gouraud, one-armed military governor of Paris, were cheered vociferously when they addressed the legion meeting in the morning.

There is a strong movement in favor of General Pershing for national commander, but it is understood he would not accept in event of a contest.

Hosts at Dinner.

The legionnaires were hosts tonight at a dinner in honor of President Doumergue, Marshal Foch and cabinet ministers.

Doumergue sat between General Pershing and Sheldon White once, charge d'affaires at the American embassy, and chatted gaily, praising the legion parade.

Minister of War Painleve recalled a conversation he had with Pershing on June 14, 1927, when Pershing said: "President Wilson directs me to ask how many soldiers you need."

"One million trained men," Painleve replied.

"You shall have twice as many; carry on," Pershing told him the next day.

"Your people and my people are never to each other in thought, in mutual esteem, and in admiration, than ever before," said Howard P. Savage, national legion commander, in addressing the French guests.

"We could not all be the gallant Lindbergh, but our hearts were with him on his flight, and down in the heart of all of us there beats a warm response to your wonderful deed, when he linked our shores closer together."

STORMER ASHORE IS REPORTED OFF ANTICOSTI ISLAND

Halifax, N. S., September 20.—(AP.)—The steamer Kurdistan was ashore at the east end of Anticosti island and in need of assistance today, according to word reaching the marine and fisheries department from the Anticosti coast lightship.

The Kurdistan is a British freighter bound from London for Montreal. It is 4,280 tons gross register and is owned by the Hindustan Steam Shipping Co., Ltd., of New Castle, England.

OWNERS SIDESTEP STRIKE ON DOCKS BY RAISING SCALE

New York, September 20.—(AP.)—Frederick D. Toppin, chairman of the Trans-Atlantic Steamship conference, today said that employers of longshoremen at ports between Portland, Maine, and Hampton Roads, Va., had made offers which met more than half way the demands of the men. The offers were expected to prevent a strike.

Toppin said the compromise offer, made last night after a conference of the committee he heads, includes pay of 85 cents an hour, $1.30 an hour for overtime and a guarantee of four hours minimum work when the longshoremen are called out on Sundays or holidays.

Longshoremen in South Atlantic and Gulf ports, whose agreement also expires on September 3, and who are now negotiating for a new compact, will probably be affected by the outcome of the negotiations here.

Some thought this psychological factor would operate in spite of anything Morrow could do to allay suspicion. They feel that the chief trouble the United States is having south of the Rio Grande is with a state of mind, that all of the difficulties arise out of deep-rooted suspicion that the United States is playing the game of American capital without regard to the rights of weaker nations.

SENATORS DIFFER OVER APPOINTMENT.

Washington, September 20.—(AP.)—Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, both of the republican insurgent group, today expressed the opinion that selection of Dwight Morrow as ambassador would tend to clear away misunderstandings with Mexico.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, however, said he believed Morrow would be confirmed by the senate, while another democrat, Fletcher, of Florida, said he was sure Mr. Morrow had the "ability and qualifications" required for the position.

It was an open secret that some members of the foreign relations committee desired additional light as to what policy the administration intended to pursue toward Mexico under Mr. Morrow's ambassadorship. Some of them also indicated that they would want to know from Mr. Morrow personally whether he had severed for all time his connection with Morgan and company. If a majority should take the same view, the new ambassador and state department officials would be called before the committee for questioning of these points.

WALL STREET INDORSSES MORROW'S APPOINTMENT.

New York, September 20.—(United News.)—Wall street promptly demonstrated its approval of Dwight Morrow's appointment as United States ambassador to Mexico.

The first reaction to the announcement came in a sudden spurt in Mexican bonds of $1.25 to nearly $4. The issues were more active than at any time this year.

Oil and mining stocks and bonds also were firmer on the stock exchange and much of the buying could be traced to belief that selection of Morrow would be a big boon to these industries, particularly with regard to American investors who now have money tied up in Mexican ventures.

Morrow's connection with the firm of J. P. Morgan has led him to make a detailed study of the Mexican situation, and in Wall street's opinion, he is the one man fitted to bring order out of chaos in that country.

The Mexican debt runs around $400,000,000, of which Americans hold securities approximating $140,000,000.

MRS. MAE B. BROOKS RITES HELD IN SPARTA

Sparta, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Funeral services were conducted here this morning for Mrs. Mae Burwell Brooks, 65, in the home of her brother, William H. Burwell. Burial was in the Sparta cemetery.

Mrs. Brooks died Sunday in a sanitarium in Alabama. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. T. Pearson, pastor of the Sparta Presbyterian church. She leaves two sons, W. H. Burwell of Sparta and Miami, Fla., and the Rev. Henry Burwell, of Dallas, Texas.

PERSHING BOOMED FOR LEGION HEAD

Paris, September 20.—(United News.)—Storing up fresh energy after two purple days, American legionnaires contented themselves today with political caucuses, official receptions, visits to the front and a final hour of letter writing before the nightly assault on the hill of Montmartre.

New York, California, Pennsylvania, and Ohio are grooming their own candidates for the legion leadership; the south has a man; there is a Pershing boom, and the reserve officers' association is backing one of its own.

Plans to storm the convention, and a convention of the legion as a whole occupied the morning for those who recovered that early champagne-corked barrage, and cigarette smoke screen of the overnight phase of the raging battle, fought with feet blistered from their march over the Paris cobblestones.

Come Back Quiet.

The many delegates who went this afternoon to see the bloody battlefield of Chateau Thierry, that put the A. E. F. on the war map, came back strangely quiet after their rendezvous with the dead.

There were legionnaires, and legionnaires' wives and children, all over the Marne salient, where Americans suffered 30,000 casualties in three months.

They picked out the trenches in which they had faced the Germans, the holes into which they had dived at the sound of German shells; the graves of their comrades. All the while kicking up dust from the soil, of them who selected the Bellou Wood sector, bullets, broken rifles shattered tin hats, and rotting shots and bits of bone.

Forgotten By Villagers.

The town of Chateau Thierry, they found, had forgotten them. Villagers continued sleepily their occupations, and hardly bothered to stare curiously at the visitors.

Several hundred delegates went to the reception held by President Doumergue at his Elisee palace. They thought they were going to shake hands with him, as is done at an American reception, and perhaps to sample the presidential champagne.

But the president bowed to his guests from a balcony overlooking the palace garden, and that was the nearest they got to him.

Visits to Foch.

Some visited Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the French army, and found him a convention casualty. His hands were out of action from the constant pumping they have been subjected to.

The quiet hour before the storming of Montmartre tonight was spent in writing letters, and the scratch of pens seemed almost audible in the streets.

The legion upholds the splendid tradition of the A. E. F. in the volume of its mail output.

A special postoffice is handling 40,000 postcards and 5,000 letters daily.

One couple, near the head of the list of cash customers is the postoffice, has solved the problem of turning out postcards by using a rubber stamp that says: "Having a perfectly adorable time here. Tom and Mary," one man brought stickers, previously addressed to those at home, and only has to paste them on his cards.

Legion headquarters was filled to day with rumors that a Pennsylvania had been stabbed, but the police had no report of such an affair.

The Red Cross hospital has treated only two black eyes, whose owners declined to discuss their origin.

The hospital is mostly busy treating blisters and fallen arches suffered in the big parade.

General Pershing, Marshal Foch and General Gouraud, one-armed military governor of Paris, were cheered vociferously when they addressed the legion meeting in the morning.

There is a strong movement in favor of General Pershing for national commander, but it is understood he would not accept in event of a contest.

Hosts at Dinner.

The legionnaires were hosts tonight at a dinner in honor of President Doumergue, Marshal Foch and cabinet ministers.

Doumergue sat between General Pershing and Sheldon White once, charge d'affaires at the American embassy, and chatted gaily, praising the legion parade.

Minister of War Painleve recalled a conversation he had with Pershing on June 14, 1927, when Pershing said: "President Wilson directs me to ask how many soldiers you need."

"One million trained men," Painleve replied.

"You shall have twice as many; carry on," Pershing told him the next day.

"Your people and my people are never to each other in thought, in mutual esteem, and in admiration, than ever before," said Howard P. Savage, national legion commander, in addressing the French guests.

"We could not all be the gallant Lindbergh, but our hearts were with him on his flight, and down in the heart of all of us there beats a warm response to your wonderful deed, when he linked our shores closer together."

The PUBLIC Is Making Money Out Of The Railroads

Efficiency of operation and constant vigilance on the part of the steam railroads of the United States in improving every branch of their service has brought about great monetary returns to the American people. Here are some of the ways in which the public has profited by improved railroad service:

During the year 1926 the average rate per ton mile declined to such an extent that the public was saved $120,000,000 in freight charges as compared with the year 1925. During the year 1926 an increase of more than $30,000,000 was paid by the railroads in taxes, making the total amount of money from which the public received the benefit, approximately $150,000,000 in one year. During the year 1926 with an increase in earnings, after taxes, of $227,000,000, the employees received $96,000,000 more than in 1925, and the increase in the purchase of materials and supplies for operating purposes, and other minor items, amounted to $38,000,000.

In short, the benefits accruing to the public, employees, and owners of American railroads as a result of added efficiency in operation, and heavier traffic, totaled $339,000,000, of which the public received 44%, the employees 28 1/2%, and the owners 27 1/2%. American railroads are doing better in the world, and at the lowest cost.

Furnishing of Model Home Scheduled To Begin Today

Work of installing furnishings and fittings in perfect accord with its design and arrangement today will be begun at The Constitution's model demonstration home at Avondale Estates, which will open next Sunday for public inspection and remain open for four weeks.

The home, which was built by Hoke N. Smith, general contractor, with Raymond C. Snow as supervising architect, fronts on beautiful Lakeshore drive overlooking picturesque Lake Avondale. From cellar to parlor, it was built in accord with specifications and suggestions of the Home Owners' Institute of America, an organization composed of the leading architectural and construction authorities of the nation. It is probably the most modern and durable home structure in the entire south and presents a large number of new features which make for beauty, comfort and permanence.

The committee in charge of furnishing the home is headed by Grady Duffee, representing furniture and decorating establishments of the city. The model demonstration home, which was completed last week, has been furnished and cleaned in every detail and is now ready to receive the magnificent appointments which will set off its interior and make it the ideal living place.

Other Committee Members. In addition to Mr. Duffee, who is a member of the firm of the Duffee Freeman company, committee members are Mrs. Ben Hall, Jr., and Misses Louise Arnold and Elizabeth Phillips. The latter three have studied home beautifying extensively and are authorities in this line.

Mr. Duffee stated Tuesday on behalf of his committee that plans are rapidly taking shape for furnishing the home in perfect taste by rooms and as a whole, the appointments to be in harmony of color, design and material throughout.

"The home-furnishing interests which are allied with this remarkable educational movement," he said, "are keenly alive to the importance of making this an outstanding illustration of the value of making every home a place of quiet beauty and restful harmony. They are working in thorough cooperation to give a concrete example in The Constitution demonstration of how this end may be realized, and I can say now with certainty that all who inspect the structure will be more than repaid for the trouble of their visit by the many interesting features of home-making this event will offer."

The first of the furnishings will go into the home today, and by the end of the week it will be finished in detail and ready to receive its first visitors next Sunday.

The master model home is one of a restricted number located in various "key" cities scattered through the country. It is built entirely of standard, nationally-approved materials according to specifications of the Home Builders' Institute, and includes many interesting features looking to beauty, comfort and permanence that will be found in no other home south of the Mason-Dixon line.

King, of Rawlins, Wyoming; eastern, Mrs. William Speakman, of Wilmington, Delaware.

The nominations will be presented to the general convention tomorrow and the election held Thursday. The nomination is usually considered equivalent to election.

Candidates for the presidency so far are Mrs. Boyce Ficklen, Jr., of Washington, Ga.; Mrs. William H. Wallbridge, of Petersburg, N. H.; and Mrs. J. E. Barcus, of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Walter Davol, of East Providence, R. I., was unanimously elected national "chapeau" of the women's society "Eight and Forty," today. Six vice president unopposed also were elected.

Judge Watkins Talks To Christian Endeavor At West End Church

Judge Garland M. Watkins, of the juvenile court of Fulton county, spoke to the Atlanta Christian Endeavor union at the West End Presbyterian church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. He will speak Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Parent-Teacher association of the Kirkwood public school, on "Juvenile Delinquency."

He spoke on the same subject to the Woman's Missionary society with a short address at the St. Paul's Methodist church last Monday afternoon.

$1,000,000 DAMAGE SUIT OF FINLEY HEARD

Indications were Tuesday that the hearing on the suit for approximately $1,000,000 brought by Sam E. Finley against the McDougald Construction company in an effort to establish his right to two road patents, which is under way before Judge Samuel H. Sibley in federal court, will continue through Friday.

The hearing entered its second day Tuesday with the plaintiff's counsel attempting to show that the patents received by Finley on his method of road construction were valid and that the construction company had no authority or right to use the Finley methods in laying part of the Roswell road.

The plaintiff is being represented by Attorney Charles J. O'Neill, of Washington, D. C., and Attorneys Clifford L. Anderson and Granger Hansell, of the law firm of Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw.

Defense counsel states that the company will attempt to show that the patented Finley method is not new and that this form of road is being used widely throughout the entire United States by them and other companies.

The defendant is represented by Attorneys Ellis Spear, Jr., and E. B. Gale, of Boston, Mass.; John Sibley, of the law firm of Spaulding, McDougald & Sibley, and former Governor John M. Slaton, of the law firm of Slaton & Hopkins.

Browning Freed In Larceny Case In 25 Minutes

Within 25 minutes after the case was submitted to them by the court, a jury in the Fulton superior court Tuesday night found Clyde S. Browning "not guilty" under an indictment charging the prisoner with larceny from the house, in connection with the alleged theft of more than $150 from the Consumers' Ice company.

Browning, as represented by Attorney F. J. Turner, Jr., was accused of having stolen the money from the safe of the ice company's branch on North avenue on July 23. He was arrested last night at a downtown hotel and $115 taken from his person, officers testified.

According to the testimony of Detective Roy E. Browning, who depicted his identity at the hotel, and was found by them in a room different from the one he was registered in.

Employees of the company testified that Browning was the only man in the office when the manager and cashier were absent for a short while, and no one entered the office during their absence.

When called for trial Tuesday morning, the first indictment fell on a demurrer by Attorney Turner, the court directing the witnesses to report to the grand jury immediately for the defendant's reindictment. Within less than two hours Browning was on trial under the second indictment.

The case was tried before Judge E. D. Thomas, Assistant Solicitor General John Hudson conducting the prosecution.

An outstanding feature of the meeting was the dancing by Juliana May, Arthur May, II, and Henry Bok May, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May, who have won acclaim for their terpsichorean talent at many public appearances. The meeting was presided over by President Graham West.

LIONS—The Rev. W. E. Davis, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Atlanta Lions club, Tuesday, in the Pinecroft hotel. Talking on the subject of the "Book and the Land," he outlined what the Bible has done towards promoting the prosperity of the present generation.

At 3:45 o'clock that afternoon, the local club will meet the executive at the Piedmont hotel. Joseph B. Wolfe, president of the Atlanta Lions club, presided over the meeting Tuesday.

According to the program adopted, the veterans will meet at the city hall at 10:30. Several city officials will act as a reception committee with Alderman Claude Buchanan and Councilman Ellis H. Barrett serving as joint chairmen. Manager Thomas H. James, of Loew's Grand theater, has provided a band to head the procession on the march from the city hall to Loew's Grand theater.

Special reservations have been made at the theater for the veterans and for city officials. Confederate veterans desiring to join the party have been asked to report to the city hall at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

"The Big Parade" is a war picture in which the methods of fighting are radically different from the methods used by the Confederates and the veterans have expressed keen pleasure over the opportunity to witness this film made possible through the courtesy of the members of the city council and the Loew's Grand management.

COUNTY SCHOOLS HYGIENE PROTEST

In answer to a number of complaints arising from the housing of the R. L. Hope school overflow in a Girl Scout hut nearby, the Fulton county board of education on Tuesday afternoon agreed to install outdoor drinking fountains in the yard of the school.

Half of the schools in the county are overcrowded to the extent that the overflow is taken care of in portable houses, however, and the board, in reply to an appeal for relief for the sanitary conditions at the Hope annex, said that it did not deem the matter urgent enough to put in at this time.

Plans for the new negro school at East Point, designed by Daniel and Beutell, architects, were approved by the board, and bids will be received on October 4. The old school on this site burned down several years ago, and the students since have been housed in a negro church.

The board declared a holiday for school students on October 3, for the Southeastern Fair, in accordance with the annual custom.

Additional equipment for Fulton high school and East Point high school, in view of the crowded condition of these schools, was voted by the board. The equipment will include additional typewriters for the commercial departments, and chairs for the home economics departments.

OWENSBORO JUDGE SHOT AT COURT

Owensboro, Ky., September 20.—(P)—Judge J. L. Patton, 62, county judge of Ohio county, was perhaps fatally wounded when shot by James Johnson, 45, during a session of the Ohio county fiscal court in the courthouse at Hartford this afternoon.

Released From Pen, Tuedell Now Faces California Charges

Judge Samuel H. Sibley Tuesday signed a removal order for Charles L. Tuedell, alias Charles St. Charles and L. R. Stone, who recently was released from the Atlanta federal prison after serving a term for forging money orders.

Tuedell will be taken to Los Angeles, Cal., to face a charge of impersonating an officer and is said to be wanted also in Kansas City, Mo., on a forgery charge. A deputy marshal will take the prisoner to California within the next few days, it was announced Tuesday afternoon.

Additional typewriters for the commercial departments, and chairs for the home economics departments.

CHEAPEST PAVEMENT IS BRICK

A few facts every taxpayer should know

Pavements are easily damaged unless the surface protects the foundation from the weather. Those not designed to give a slightly flexible surface are injured by natural expansion and contraction and the jolts of heavy traffic. Those not designed to resist heat-softening, rut and "shove" under traffic.

Paving brick being vitrified is tough, dense, can't absorb water. Laid with sand cushion, over any good base, and bound with asphalt, brick surface has resilience "give," keeps itself from injury and protects the pavement foundation. And it is a surface water cannot penetrate; heat cannot soften; tire chains cannot injure.

Neither traffic nor weather—nor both together—can destroy brick. Records from hundreds of cities and towns, prove it the cheapest of all pavement—yet the highest in value.

Rotarians Subscribe $8,000 In Few Minutes For Students

Voluntary subscriptions to the Rotary Educational Foundation of Atlanta mounted to more than $8,000 in the course of a few minutes Tuesday, at the weekly Rotary club meeting, in the Capital City club building.

The offering followed the annual report of the foundation, which aids financially distressed students to complete their college courses, read by Kendall Weisiger, chairman of the board of trustees, and a short address by Dr. David Marx, bringing out the need of an additional $5,000 to enable the foundation to carry into effect expansions of the service required this year.

Marking the sixth anniversary of the educational foundation, the report showed that Atlanta Rotarians are supporting an imaginary college of 335 young men, that is, Mr. Weisiger pointed out, with the foundation furnishing the necessary funds for 40 seniors to graduate each year it is equivalent to the entire output of a college having a student body of 335 men. Since establishment of the college aid fund, the original board of trustees, consisting of Mr. Weisiger, chairman, Charles D. Atkinson, Milton W. Bell, S. Frank Boykin, Herbert N. Hutchinson and Thomas C. Law have been successfully directing the work of the foundation. At the meeting Tuesday, with expansion of the foundation, appointment of Dick Smith, Ferdinand Kauffman and Willis Sutton as trustees in addition to the original body again reelected, was announced.

In opening the lightning-like campaign for increased funds, Dr. Marx remarked that "to turn out a higher type of serviceable man virtually embodies all the ideals of Rotary." "Five years ago the same body of men raised in a matter of seconds more than $6,800," he said. "Now it is in keeping with Rotary policy to broaden its service in the field of humanity, making it essential to put financing of the foundation on an increased basis of $5,000 a year." A $500 subscription from W. C. Wardlaw immediately followed the appeal and was the sign for a quick succession of large pledges. A special fund to provide financial assistance for needy girl students was inaugurated with a $1,000 donation by Eugene Hudson. In his report of past accomplishments of the foundation, Mr. Weisiger stated that it was time for it to enter into a new phase of educational work. Whereas previously the foundation was limited to aiding juniors and seniors who would have to drop out of college for lack of funds, the foundation had reached a point where it should care also for case of youth unable otherwise to enter college, Mr. Weisiger said.

Hardman Proclaims "Forget-Me-Not" Day

Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, has given official recognition to "Forget-Me-Not Day," which comes on Thursday, when hundreds of Atlanta women will undertake the sale of forget-me-nots for the benefit of disabled veterans on the streets of Atlanta. The governor Tuesday issued a proclamation establishing the day for the entire state and called upon the people of the state to aid liberally in the movement.

The text of the proclamation follows:

Whereas, The friends of the disabled American veterans of the world war are staging a big day of forget-me-nots for the benefit of disabled veterans on the streets of Atlanta. The governor Tuesday issued a proclamation establishing the day for the entire state and called upon the people of the state to aid liberally in the movement.

The governor Tuesday issued a proclamation establishing the day for the entire state and called upon the people of the state to aid liberally in the movement.

The proclamation follows a similar document issued by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and the cordial endorsement of the drive and its purposes by President Calvin Coolidge. The sale of forget-me-nots is a national movement and is intended to provide funds for the aid and relief of disabled veterans who have not yet received government compensation for their services.

The sale will begin at an early hour on Thursday morning and will continue throughout the day. It is expected that several thousand dollars will be raised for the treasury of the Woodrow Wilson chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, which in turn will be expended by them in their relief program. Mrs. H. M. Nichols, prominent Atlanta business woman, is directing the sale with the assistance of over 50 women's clubs and societies.

Now, Therefore, I, L. G. Hardman, governor of the state of Georgia, do hereby proclaim and set apart September 22, 1927, as "Forget-Me-Not Day," and urge all Georgia on that day to give to the disabled veterans of the world war, who have come back to us in honor and glory.

BURGLARS LOOT WARDLAW HOME

Burglars late Monday night entered the fashionable home of William C. Wardlaw, vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia, at 200 Peachtree circle, and escaped with approximately $42, three gold watches, a fraternity pin and some clothes, according to police reports. A jewel box containing many valuable heirlooms was overlooked.

Detectives W. D. McGee and W. W. Ford investigated and were told that members of the family were asleep in an upstairs sleeping porch, and that the burglar evidently walked around in the house barefooted or with rubber soled shoes on, as no noises of any kind were heard during the night.

Entrance was gained by means of a pass key through the basement door, police were told.

After failing to open a safe in the B. & B. cafe at 73 South Pryor street, burglars late Monday night robbed the cash register of $35 and escaped. Police were notified early Tuesday morning of the burglary by Charley Jones, owner of the cafe, and an immediate investigation was started.

Mrs. Rose Silverman, of 888 Jackson street, N. E., reported the loss of a valuable diamond bar pin. Joe Green, negro truck driver, of 714 Fraser street, was held up and robbed by two negro men as he drove his truck into the Hastings Seed company's garage Monday night, he reported to police Tuesday.

GOVERNOR RECALLS FUNDS UNDER LAW

Moneys of the state of Georgia now on deposit in state depositories in sums exceeding the amount of the surety bonds of such banks have been called into the state treasury by Governor L. G. Hardman. This is in conformity with provisions of the new banking law passed last year.

Since the new law, banks are not allowed to accept deposits of state funds in amounts in excess of the bank's surety bond. To turn over such funds to the state treasurer and in outlining other provisions of the new law, the governor sent out the following letter to all state depositories:

You are familiar with the new banking law which provides that all depositories must upon the same basis. Prior to this time the state deposits have been given preference over all other deposits.

Now, due to these facts, deposits received by your bank designated as state depositories should not exceed the maximum of the bond made to the state, and where national banks, state depositories, their bonds should be double the amount of the maximum deposits. In view of these facts, I am asking that all funds in excess of the bond made to the state by state banks acting as state depositories, and all funds in excess of one-half of the bond made to the state by national banks acting as state depositories, shall be forwarded directly to the state treasury.

"Worth Hustling For," Boy Says of Premier Bicycles

Ernest Waller, of Roanoke, Ala., with the third bicycle he has won under The Constitution's free offer to boys and girls.

"It takes hustling to win" a $50 Premier bicycle offered by The Constitution free of all costs to boys and girls, according to Ernest Waller, of Roanoke, Ala., but—according to this same industrious youth—"boys, it's worth it."

Ernest Waller should know what he's talking about, for he has won not a single bicycle, but three of the speedy, gleaming beauties offered by this paper. His last one—a Premier—was earned in less than four days.

"Boys, it takes hustling to win, but it's worth it." There's a Premier—one of the finest and snappiest bicycles manufactured today—waiting for you. Will as your books will show. I have done this by hard work and giving good service.

"I have earned and secured three bicycles from the Atlanta Constitution. The first was a Ranger, which I earned by securing the necessary number of new subscriptions in less than 12 hours. The second Ranger was earned in less than three days. The Premier, the last bicycle I earned, was secured in a little less than four days.

If the excess deposits should be held over in your bank, you would be required to give an additional surety bond to cover the excess deposits over the original bond, or provide a collateral bond and pledge to the state treasurer either state of Georgia registered bonds or United States registered bonds and give the state treasurer power of attorney to sell.

The state treasury, under the law, has 30 days to check out all excess deposits, but the depository bank should never allow, or receive, funds that would make an excess. I respectfully request that your bank report to the state treasury immediately the funds received by you from the tax collector for the credit of the state's account, on the form of certificate recommended by the state treasurer, so that the state treasury shall know the funds available in every depository. We must protect the state's deposits in the depositories named by the governor by furnishing a bond acceptable to the governor.

As president, Mrs. Turk will preside over the 40 guardians who are the leaders of the Camp Fire groups of the Atlanta district. Mrs. Turk is a teacher at the O'Keefe Junior High school and has served there for two years as the guardian of a Camp Fire group. FIVE LECTURERS ARE GIVEN DATES AT U. OF GEORGIA

Athens, Ga., September 20.—(AP)—The University of Georgia has arranged for five well-known lecturers to appear before the student body during 1927-1928 session, according to announcement of heads of the institution.

The men who will lecture here are: John Cowper, English man of letters; Edward Tomlinson, a Georgian and considered an authority on political, economic and social relationships; Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer; Dr. Rollo Walter Brown, biographer, and Lowell Thomas, explorer.

The announcement of the lecturers was made by Dr. R. P. Brooks, chairman of the faculty committee on lectures.

"It's worth hustling for," he says.

All that's required of you is that you get 15 new six-months subscriptions to the Daily and Sunday Constitution. Friends and relatives will help you to succeed in this venture.

The fact that Ernest Waller has won three bikes and that scores of other boys and girls have won their Premier in less than a week's time is assurance of the ease with which the task can be performed.

If you want your Premier, lose no time in writing the circulation department of The Constitution for full details of this unparalleled free offer.

The world is shocked by the numerous tragedies marking development of trans-continental and trans-oceanic flying, but the disasters of ground traffic are far more alarming and present an infinitely more important problem in this day.

For every aviator who crashes to his death, hundreds and possibly thousands of motorists and pedestrians are slain, and in addition a greater proportion of men and women are left maimed and suffering in the trail of the traffic accident wave.

You may be claimed as a victim of this great, common menace at any time. Whether you drive a car or are a pedestrian; whether you live in a city, town or rural section, you need insurance protection against the ever-mounting hazard.

You can get just the type of protection you need cheaply and efficiently under the terms of The Constitution's offer to its readers of the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Insurance company, of Chicago. This old and reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobile, speeding wheels of an on-rushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great offer. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of the Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70, at $1.25 per year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for his paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through a postoffice or rural route delivery for one year, are eligible by paying $1.25 per year per policy above the subscription price.

In sending applications for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation. If beneficiary is desired, full Christian name must be given and relation of same to the insured.

BALTIMORE FARE INCREASE DENIED BY SERVICE BOARD

Baltimore, Md., September 20.—(AP)—The application of the United Railways, operators of Baltimore's street car service, for an emergency increase in car fare from seven and one-half cents to ten cents, was denied today by the public service commission.

In their opinion, the commission asserted that it did not believe the increase was in the interest of the public, that it was necessary from a civic standpoint, or that it was necessary for the preservation of the companies property.

Next morning the witness showed up again at the courthouse and asked: "Did I understand right when you all told me I needn't come back again in this case?"

"Well," the witness replied, "I just saw this line here about pain of $300," pointing to a heavy black sentence on the subpoena: "Herein fall not on pain of three hundred dollars," and," he continued, "that would be a mighty big pain for me."

Coweta County To Show Resources and Progress In Centennial Pageant

All Roads Will Lead to Newnan for Elaborate Celebration, September 28-October 1.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Most all roads in Georgia will lead to Newnan, metropolis of Coweta county, from September 28 to October 1, when the people of that county will open some show windows to display to the world the resources of that section as one of the outstanding features of the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the creation of Coweta county, according to T. S. Parrott, prominent Newnan citizen, who is handling publicity for the big event.

Preparations for staging a pageant and celebration which will tell the story of the progress of Coweta county have been under way for several months. A huge pageant will be staged on the night of September 28, while a big parade will be staged during the day, preceding the presentation of the pageant.

Coweta county is one of the most progressive counties in the state, the per capita wealth of its cities ranking among the highest in the United States, and the entire community is cooperating to make the centennial celebration the largest and biggest of any programs offered by counties of similar rank in Georgia.

Atlanta's police department will cooperate with the Coweta committee by furnishing ten expert traffic officers to handle the crowds on the streets of Newnan during the celebration. The Coweta county fair will be in progress during this period and will furnish some of the attractions for the visitors.

Several noted musical organizations have been engaged for this event. One of the bands to play for the occasion will be the 122nd infantry band, of Fort McPherson. The commanding officer of this regiment is Colonel George F. Baltzell, who married a Newnan girl, a daughter of former Governor W. Y. Atkinson. The famous Atlanta and West Point railroad band from Montgomery, Ala., has appeared in several parades in Atlanta, will play during the celebration. Several other bands have been engaged for the parade.

Citizens and organizations of Newnan will place 60 beautiful floats in the parade. More than $15,000 has been spent on the decorations for these floats and several prominent decorators from Atlanta are engaged in preparations for the event.

Washington, September 20.—(AP)—President Coolidge expects to attend the Founders day celebration of the Carnegie institute at Pittsburgh on October 13.

In accepting the invitation the president has made known also that he probably will be unable to go as far away as Chattanooga, Tenn., to speak before the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, October 26.

While he desires to go to Chattanooga, Mr. Coolidge feels that he cannot make this visit at some other time.

While at Pittsburgh the president will have an opportunity also to attend the opening of the international art exhibition at the Carnegie institute.

An invitation also was received today by President Coolidge to attend the celebration of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday at New Orleans on October 27. COOLIDGE FEELS UNABLE TO COME. SOUTH THIS FALL

Washington, September 20.—(AP)—President Coolidge expects to attend the Founders day celebration of the Carnegie institute at Pittsburgh on October 13.

In accepting the invitation the president has made known also that he probably will be unable to go as far away as Chattanooga, Tenn., to speak before the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, October 26.

While he desires to go to Chattanooga, Mr. Coolidge feels that he cannot make this visit at some other time.

While at Pittsburgh the president will have an opportunity also to attend the opening of the international art exhibition at the Carnegie institute.

An invitation also was received today by President Coolidge to attend the celebration of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday at New Orleans on October 27. However, he informed Warren Kearney, of New Orleans, who extended the invitation, that it was doubtful if he could get away at that time for such a long trip.

WALSH TO BE INSTALLED BISHOP OF CHARLESTON

Charleston, S. C., September 20.—(AP)—Catholics of high and low degree will gather here Thursday for the formal installation of the Right Rev. Emmet M. Walsh as bishop of the diocese of Charleston.

Bishop Walsh, who was consecrated early this month in Savannah, will come to Charleston from the Georgia city Wednesday. In his party will be Bishop Keyes, of Savannah; Bishop Barry, of Jacksonville; Father Foley, vicar general of Savannah, and a large number of Savannah clergymen.

The installation, which will seat the youngest American bishop, possibly the world's youngest, in the see made vacant by the death several months ago of Bishop William T. Russell, will take place following the signing of a postulated high mass.

As a guard of honor for the incoming bishop, fourth degree Knights of Columbus from several cities have been invited to meet by a reception committee at the cathedral.

An elaborate souvenir program is being prepared for the visitors under the supervision of John J. Furlong, chairman of the committee on printing. The cover will be a photograph of the cathedral of St. John the Baptist, where the ceremonies will take place; the bishop's coat of arms, the seal of the state, the cross and the mitre. Inside will be pictures of Pope Pius XI, the bishop's commission from Rome, the bishop, the five other bishops of Charleston and Father J. T. McElroy, vicar general of Charleston.

Coming from Savannah, the bishop's party will be met by a reception committee at Yemassee and escorted back to this city.

Bishop Walsh is a native South Carolinian.

T. L. McBrayer, president of the Atlanta Street Car Men's union, local No. 732, and well known in labor circles throughout the state, was elected vice president of the International Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, at the national convention of that organization recently held in Birmingham, Ala.

W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, president of the organization, was reelected and begins his thirty-seventh term as head of the body, which is international in scope.

The election of Mr. McBrayer is of outstanding significance and is a mark of appreciation for his services in labor circles in the south. He is the first to be so honored in this section of the United States, and was chosen over several opponents by a big majority.

Mr. McBrayer is now serving his fifth successive term as president of the Atlanta local.

$50,000 Slander Suit Reveals Poison Charge

Trenton, N. J., September 20.—(United News.)—Charges that the wealthy and elderly Thompson H. McClure, late Philadelphia publisher, left a poisonous legacy to his young wife were brought out in a $50,000 slander suit today.

Mrs. Margaret H. McClure, widow of the publisher, testified in bringing the action in United States district court against Dr. Frank F. Moore, of Trenton.

Mrs. McClure said she married McClure in 1921, when she was 28 and he 72. In a few months, a detective took her husband from their home, she said, on an assertion from Dr. Moore that she was slowly poisoning him.

As a result, Mrs. McClure said she was cut off in her husband's will except for her legal dower rights, which were one-third of McClure's real property. The bulk of the estate, she said, was in personal property.

Mrs. McClure is trying to break the will in another action.

TWO YOUTHS HELD IN DEATH OF MAN IN BLAZING BARN

Memphis, Tenn., September 20.—(AP)—Harry Pope, 17, and his cousin, Edgar Pope, 16, were held to the circuit court here today on a charge of murder in connection with the finding of a dead body in the ashes of the N. W. Carter barn three weeks ago near Laverage. Harry Pope was denied bond. Edgar was allowed bond of $10,000 but early this afternoon had not executed it.

Mrs. Marie Griffin testified that Harry Pope had admitted to her the killing and the barn burning, but had talked "in a joking way." She added that another youth had also admitted the crime. Edgar Pope went on the stand, denying all connection with the crime and telling of his movements the afternoon and evening of the barn burning.

Relatives partly identified the dead man as Carroll Holt. The motive was believed to be robbery.

SOUTHERN FREIGHT CHANGES ARGUED

Cincinnati, Ohio, September 20.—(AP)—The southern classification committee opened a hearing today with an array of Cincinnati wholesalers and manufacturers waiting their turn to protest proposed rate changes throughout the south on less than carload freight shipments.

Samuel Herndon, manager of the transportation committee of the chamber of commerce, told the committee that the proposed changes would raise the rates of certain articles from ten to as much as 100 per cent.

Cincinnati paper manufacturers estimated that additional freight charges on paper shipments to the south alone would approximate a half million dollars.

W. C. Cullins, executive vice president of the chamber of commerce, told the committee that "not only are the business interests of Cincinnati interested out more than 10,000,000 people of the south are vitally interested."

"Undoubtedly if these increases are made effective the burden will be passed on to the consumers of the south," a report by Robert A. Taft, read. "Shippers in past years dealt with the carriers in a cooperative spirit and it would be unfortunate to change that feeling by these radical advances."

DUVAL WITNESSES DENY K. K. K. DEAL

Indianapolis, Ind., September 20.—(AP)—The defense virtually closed its case here late today in the trial of Mayor John L. Duval, of Indianapolis, on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act with presentation of testimony that the defendant never signed an agreement to let the Ku Klux Klan dictate at least 60 per cent of his patronage for support in the 1925 political campaign.

City policemen, firemen and other members of the mayor's official family, who said they either were or had been klansmen, told the jury that Duval had not made any deal with that organization prior to the 1925 primary or afterward. State witnesses, who also were klansmen, at the time, had testified that Duval had taken an oath to adhere to the principles of the organization and had signed an agreement that he would give its members large representation in the city hall.

It was a dull day in the crowded court room after Mayor Duval left the stand at mid-morning, for virtually every witness that followed gave similar testimony. The high spot of Duval's testimony was his explanation of why he had accepted $12,000 from William H. Armitage, local political leader. Duval said he took the money to keep Armitage from using it in supporting another candidate where he never at any time planned to let the donor come into the administration.

TWO FAULTS OF CAMPION DESCRIBED BY DE FOREST

Famous Trainer Will Pick Winner of Bout Tonight

Chicago, Ill., September 20.—Gene Tunney finished his training just one day later than Dempsey, and now both of them are all set, ready and waiting for the going that will start them on another ten-round fight to decide who is entitled to the heavyweight championship of the world.

As I watched Tunney go through his final spell of boxing Monday afternoon, I came to the conclusion that Gene is just about as good as he was at Philadelphia, so far as physical condition goes.

Jack Dempsey Predicts K. O. In 7 Rounds

Challenger's Father Confident He Will Regain His Lost Crown.

Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill., September 20.—(P)—Jack Dempsey, center of the welterweight bout tonight for the world's championship, is confident that he will win by a knockout within seven rounds.

The former world's heavyweight champion appeared to be in wonderful shape today as he loomed around camp, passing the time with his father, Hiram Dempsey, and other relatives who came on from Salt Lake City to see, as they expressed it, "Jack win back the title."

Father Is Confident.

Dempsey's father brought with him Jack's nephew, Lloyd Stanard. The elder Dempsey's brothers from West Virginia, Richard and Lou Dempsey; Jack's cousin, Hiram Dempsey, and the mayor of Salt Lake City, Clarence Neslen, also joined the group.

Mayor Neslen flew from Salt Lake in an airplane to be in the fight.

Hiram Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler's father, is certain that his famous son will conquer Tunney.

"I caught him when he was a baby, and I know he is ready to fight today," he said. "My boy, in condition, is the best fighter in the world. I only need one peek at him today to know that he is ready to fight today. He looks great."

"I know he was in bad shape last year when he fought Tunney," the Dempseys will all have ringside seats and already are planning to join in the big celebration late Thursday night in honor of "the only heavyweight champion who ever came back."

To Break Camp Today.

The former titleholder did four miles of road work this morning with Joe Ray, the miller, and Jerry the Greek as his companions. Late in the afternoon Dempsey sharpened up his punch on both the light and heavy bags.

With Manager Leo P. Flynn in Chicago to meet with officials of the state athletic commission, Dempsey said he expected to break camp just before or after dinner tomorrow evening. He will do nothing but road work tomorrow, and loaf all day Thursday.

ROONEY WINS SPEED EVENT AT CHARLOTTE SMITHIE BACKS GOING GOOD IN WORKOUTS

Charlotte, N. C., September 20.—(P)—Speeding stock cars, whirling about the Charlotte Speedway this afternoon to complete the classic begun yesterday, tonight had finished their run and four drivers were hailed as winners in the event.

Tim Rooney piloted his roadster to victory in the 75-mile sprint; Gil Anderson was runner-up for first honors; L. L. Corum captured third place, and Ralph Hepburn was awarded fourth position by official decision after a vigorous dispute had arisen between Hepburn and Wade Morton for the honor.

Rooney's time was 47:44 4-5, an average of 94.244 miles an hour.

The stock car race had been scheduled for yesterday as the closing event of the racing spectacle at which 22,500 persons saw racing revived in the south with such international racers as Peter De Paolo, Babe Starn, Leon Duray, Frank Lockhart, Al Melcher, Dave Evans, Doc Shattuck, Ralph Snowberger, Harry Hartz and others in furious action in a series of races totaling 175 miles.

TEST TONIGHT OF RADIO SETS FOR BIG FIGHT

The loud speakers to be used in giving the Dempsey-Tunney fight returns at the auditorium Thursday night will be given something in the nature of a workout tonight when they will be turned on in order that radio experts in charge of installation may conduct a test. Any concert that is on the air will be received by the sets, and the public is invited to attend this preliminary workout.

Thursday night the doors of the auditorium will be open at 8 o'clock, and several hours will be offered the fans who have come to listen to the returns from the big bout. The boxing will start at 8:30 o'clock and end just as soon as the Dempsey-Tunney fight returns begin coming in, which will in all probability be around 9 o'clock.

The show will be opened by a battle royal between the five lucky scrappers. Then comes a four-round go between Homer Reid and Battling Maddox, followed by a six-round engagement between Casey Jones and Battling Stein.

Reserved seats are on sale at Chess' place and at Rex, at popular prices. The gallery has been set aside for colored fans.

Stumpy "In"

Stumpy Thomason, upon whom much is expected at Tech this fall, has come through his examinations for entrance as a sophomore and is therefore eligible to play on the varsity this fall. At least that's what rumors floating around the campus said Tuesday afternoon. Stumpy, who had a brilliant prep record while at Tech High school, is expected to develop into one of the south's best while at Tech.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES DEPEND ON INVESTIGATION

Waycross, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—C. D. Flannigan, representative of the Southeastern Underwriters' association, is conducting an investigation in Waycross to determine whether insurance rates will be raised in this city.

Waycross was delivered an ultimatum several months ago to the effect that rates would be increased unless improvements were made to the waterworks system. The growth of the city has outdistanced improvements to the waterworks plant, and water mains are not sufficient to provide fire protection justifying present rates, it is pointed out.

A recent bond election failed to carry, and the underwriters sent Mr. Flannigan to Waycross to make a final investigation before any change is made in the Waycross rating.

The result of the investigation will be made public within several weeks.

He was born in Attapulgus, Ga., March 20, 1857, and was a graduate of Emory university.

He was prominently known in Masonic circles, being a past master of the Waycross lodge. He was a member also of the Knights of Pythias and the Odd Fellows and of the First Methodist church of Waycross.

BLUE RIBBON STEEL BEDS

The charm of "satin-smooth" finishes, the beauty of simple lines, the age-old grace and loveliness of early American design have been recreated in the new Blue Ribbon Beds of Steel. Blue Ribbon craftsmen have translated the art of old master designers into beds with scores of modern advantages, yet of distinctive character and enduring charm. The illustration shown above cannot do justice to the exquisite beauty of the "Virginia." In this new Blue Ribbon Bed a special process reproduces with startling fidelity the lovely walnut graining of early American furniture. Here is a luxury in bed design that every woman longs for—with economy to please the thriftiest.

The most modern thought in interior decoration demands that your bedrooms be furnished around your beds. Begin your new bedroom with a complete Blue Ribbon Sleep Unit—bed, mattress, spring—as your central motif. Then you can easily choose odd pieces, chairs, rugs, lamps to express your own ideas, and you will achieve an impression of individuality that can never be attained in bedrooms furnished with elaborate suites. At the same time you can make your bedroom furnishings as inexpensive or as costly as you like.

Being wrought of steel, Blue Ribbon Beds have all the strength of steel construction. The patented corner lock prevents all squeaking, wobbling and side-way. You never experience a feeling of insecurity when sleeping on a Blue Ribbon Steel Bed. They are made entirely (except for the hand finish) on labor and cost saving machines. The resultant low prices bring, for the first time, authentic design, fine workmanship and enduring quality within the reach of very modest purses. The "chip-proof" finish, baked-on and hand-rubbed, never grows dull but softer and more beautiful with use.

The "Virginia" is one of fifty charming Blue Ribbon Beds. Never has such a wealth of design, finish, color, been shown in any line of beds. There are the famous exclusive Duo-chrome finishes—Oriole, Moonstone, Antique-Walnut, Clouded-Jade—as well as "satin-smooth" grained wood finishes. Ask any one of the dealers listed below to show them to you.

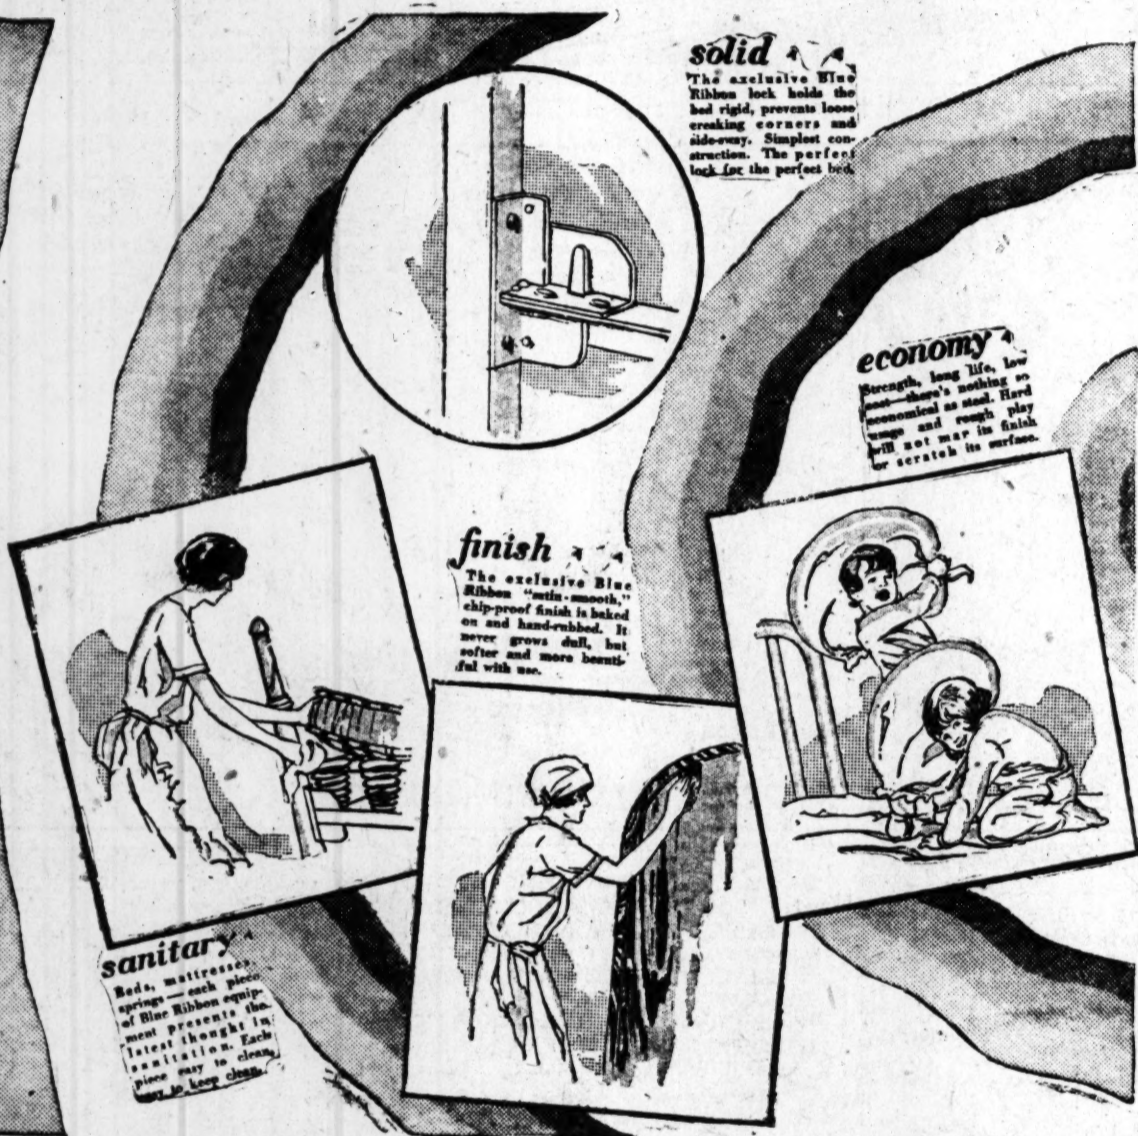

Note: For your protection, each piece of Blue Ribbon Sleep Equipment is identified by the Blue Ribbon Trade-Mark. The Blue Ribbon tag is on Blue Ribbon Springs, for not all blue springs are Blue Ribbon. Blue Ribbon Mattresses have the name imprinted on the ticking.

BLUE RIBBON
MATTRESSES

Blue Ribbon Mattresses are made of clean, new Southern cotton, filled into a generous layer. They are encased in bright, colorful ticking. Each one is packed in an individual, sanitary, dust-proof cover. Also be sure to see the new Blue Ribbon Spring-filled Mattress—made of downy cotton that causes hundreds of small springs.

Blue Ribbon Springs are made of tempered steel coils, extra-stamped in the true shape of water spring steel. This gives them extra resiliency, extra comfort. They pillow your body evenly, gently. Their resiliency is guaranteed for life. They never lose their restful buoyancy.

To Make Your Home a Place of Joy and Harmony

There are some houses you visit where you feel instantly at home. There is an air of comfort and cheer about them. They are not necessarily rich and elaborate. They may be simple and even shabby. But there are comfortable old chairs for you to sink into—and it doesn't matter if you spill ashes on the floor. And the folks who live there are always glad to see you. They welcome you with their own cheery graciousness—and no matter when you drop in, they always offer you a welcome cup of RIDGWAYS deliciously fragrant tea to cheer and refresh you.

No wonder you feel at home there! No wonder being there always puts you in a mood of good-fellowship and genial camaraderie! RIDGWAYS TEA does that for you. It warms you so that you feel relaxed and at harmony with yourself. It invigorates you so that you feel friendly and in harmony with others.

To make your home a place of joy and harmony, begin by putting your guests and your family, too, in a happy frame of mind by refreshing them with the always welcome cup of RIDGWAYS fragrant, full-bodied tea.

Miss Buchanan Weds Mr. Proctor At Home Ceremony

Of wide social interest is the wedding of Miss Louise Ryan Buchanan and Thomas Fletcher Proctor, Jr., which took place Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Coggins in Ansley park. The ceremony, which was solemnized before an altar of ferns and palms lighted with white tapers, was attended by immediate friends of the families, and was performed by the Rev. J. W. Caldwell, of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

The wedding music was rendered by Ed Kane and Sam Proger, of the Emory Glee club, under the direction of Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey. Immediately preceding the ceremony, Mr. Proger played "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler, and Mr. Kane sang "O Day of Golden Promise." During the ceremony Mr. Proger played "Liebestraum" by Liszt.

Mrs. Jack Jones, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a costume of white satin headed in rhinestones, with draperies of rose tulle, and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. Immediately preceding the bride, as flower girl, was little Betty Jones, who was a charming figure in the daintiest of pink crepe de chine dresses. She carried a basket of tiny pink rosebuds. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, J. C. Buchanan, was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory satin and duchesse lace. Her train was adjusted with clusters of orange blossoms, and was trimmed with rare old lace, which had been used by other brides of her family for many years. Her flowers were roses and valley lilies. Following the ceremony there was an informal reception, after which the bride and groom left in their car for their wedding trip. They will reside in Birmingham, Alabama.

Woman Aviatrix Planning DILL PICKLE DIET ON TRIP

Curtis Field, L. I., September 20. (United News).—Ruth Elder, bathing beauty contest winner and prospective trans-Atlantic aviatrix, arrived at Roosevelt field today to inspect her monoplane American Girl, but found that she was clad in the wrong costume.

Her fetching black and white silk garments were too spottish for her to get within hailing distance of the plane.

From afar, however, Miss Elder looked on while her pilot, Captain George Haldeman, superintended installation of instruments. By tomorrow work on the instruments will be completed and the plane will be taken to the turntable at Mitchell field for tests.

A test flight will be made by Captain Haldeman and Miss Elder Thursday, the pair alternating at the controls, and the plane will be ready to go Friday.

Captain Haldeman and Edward Corneil, of Winterhaven, Fla., one of the principal backers of the flight, called on James H. Kimball, weather forecaster, and sought knowledge of North Atlantic conditions. Kimball advised a daylight take-off, Haldeman said.

Miss Elder was asked if she were going to spend the intervening time shopping.

"Imagine anyone buying clothes just before going to Paris," she said. "The only things I will buy here are flying clothes."

"What food are you going to take with you?" one of the reporters wanted to know.

"I don't know yet. It depends upon my appetite at the time," she said.

"Candy, I'll bet," hazarded the newspaperman.

"No, I never eat candy, except a chocolate bar now and then, but I may take a little candy," she answered.

He landed in the vicinity of the Orinoco delta.

Mrs. Redfern was much interested in The Associated Press' story today from Caracas, Venezuela, further confirming the report that her husband was seen over the Orinoco delta. She also inquired about the Marsh expedition, of which an uncle of the flier is a member, and was anxious to know when they would leave on their search for her husband. She stated she would remain in Brunswick for only a few days.

WIFE OF REDFERN FEELS HE IS SAFE

Brunswick, Ga., September 20.—(P)—"I believe Paul is safe somewhere in South America and that he will return to me," said Mrs. Paul R. Redfern, wife of the Brunswick-Brazil flier, who returned to Brunswick today after visiting relatives of the flier in South Carolina.

"I have always felt that Paul was safe and that he would return. I am confident that he reached the Venezuelan coast and it is my belief that he is safe."

Three of seven relatives of Mrs. Mary Treese, 7-year-old daughter of a woman who was beaten and burned to death near her home several days ago, have been released from custody, Walker county officers were known today.

Mrs. James Tinker, step-daughter of Mrs. Treese, Mrs. David Treese, daughter-in-law of Lee Treese, the woman's husband, and Mrs. Skinner Green, a sister-in-law of Mrs. James Tinker, who were held for questioning in connection with the woman's death, have been released.

Lee Treese, the only witness to his wife's death, his son, David Treese, James Tinker, the elder Treese's son-in-law, and Skinner Green still are in the Jefferson county jail at Birmingham where they were taken for safe-keeping.

Treese told officers that he found his wife badly beaten and with her clothes partially burned from her body. She died, he said, after telling him that a negro had attacked her and that she was afraid to call for help.

Several negroes who have been held in connection with the murder, have been released, Walker county officers said.

The seven relatives were held for questioning following the inability of officers to make a complete check on Treese's story.

Legion of Honor Given to Hartley

Cherbourg, France, September 20.—(P)—Port Admiral Renault pinned the cross of the legion of honor today on the breast of Commodore Herbert Hartley, commander of the United States liner Leviathan.

Admiral Renault said the presentation was made on behalf of the French government as a reward for Commodore Hartley's achievements as a seaman and officer, and that it was desired to "engrave the name of Hartley as a citizen of the United States on one of the French nation's book."

MORE TESTS MADE IN BABY PUZZLE

Cleveland, Ohio, September 20.—(P)—"That baby girl remain at the hospital forever as far as my wife and I are concerned, for I won't take it unless doctors can prove conclusively that it is my wife's child," Sam Smith, father of the chief figure in Cleveland's "baby puzzle" case, firmly said today.

Mrs. Smith reiterated her refusal to leave Fairview Park hospital today until she is convinced that the child she nurses is the one to which she has been born to her.

She continued to maintain that hospital officials participated in a shuffle of babies, giving her a baby girl a week after she had been told a baby boy had been born to her.

Although they agreed in a conference with Judge Carl V. Weigant, of common pleas court, that medical science could not conclusively prove the parentage of the child, three doctors went to the hospital tonight to make tests of the child's and mother's blood and examine their physical characteristics.

Dr. W. B. Glendinning and Dr. T. Wingate Todd, noted anthropologists, were to make examinations of bones, facial and body characteristics of the mother and child, while Clyde L. Cummer was to make a Wasserman blood test. They were not to make public their findings until they were called for testimony when the case is resumed in court Thursday.

Philip Collier, Jr., superintendent of the hospital, insisted today that Miss Ruth Meyer, nurse attending Mrs. Smith, just returned from a vacation, could offer testimony at Thursday's hearing, proving that the baby girl, Mrs. Smith's nurse, was her own.

He told Luther Day, counsel for the hospital, that Miss Meyer said she knew the child was a girl since birth, but that in confusion she had told Dr. J. A. W. Keutenik, attending physician, it was a boy.

Miss Meyer was quoted at Detroit last week as saying that she "didn't remember the new baby, as the child's advice of Day she refused to amplify her statement or clarify conflicting versions to newspaper men, requesting an interview."

One of Siamese Twins Seriously Ill; Other Normal

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, September 20.—America's only Siamese twins, Mary and Margaret Gibb, who were supposed to make their first appearance of the theatrical season at Newburgh, N. Y., yesterday, were prevented from doing so by the illness of Mary, which has confined both girls to their home in Holyoke, Mass., where Mary's condition has been regarded as serious.

The twins are 16 years old and were booked for the season on the vaudeville stage. About two weeks ago while the girls were spending their vacation at the home of their parents, they were stricken with influenza. After a period of careful nursing both recovered and were able to begin about again, but Mary suffered a relapse.

In spite of the constant care of two doctors and two nurses, she became worse and developed bronchial pneumonia, which sent her temperature up to 104 degrees, while Margaret's remained normal.

Since that time rapid rises and sudden drops in the temperatures of the two have made the outcome of the battle uncertain. Late this afternoon Mary's temperature had fallen to 100 degrees and Margaret's was 97, but whether the improvement would be permanent the doctors, Arthur Kline and Edward Regan, who have watched the twins night and day for the last two weeks, were unable to say.

While Mary has been lying at the point of death for days, Margaret has appeared to be in perfect health, her only reaction toward the illness of her sister being a sympathetic drop in temperature, as her sister has improved—a drop which has carried her own temperature below normal.

FLOOD DESTROYS MEXICAN TOWNS

BY JOHN CORRYN.

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Mexico City, September 20.—Partial reestablishment of telegraphic communication has revealed the magnitude of the disaster caused by the inundations in the Acambaro district of the state of Guanajuato. In addition to the city, which is considerably larger than the state capital, other towns were destroyed. In the lower parts of the city the water rose 10 feet and the constant current for several days has been carrying timber and dead animals in various stages of decomposition through the streets and bulging them in alleyways and the ruins of fallen buildings.

The number of dead in the flood area is not known, but estimates today place it high. The telegraph and telephone companies were forced out of Acambaro and established themselves on higher ground from whence came the reports of devastation and suffering of the inhabitants.

Throughout the flooded area, which hourly is increasing, are hundreds of people marooned in the course of the swiftly moving waters. It has been impossible to reach them due to the lack of boats and it is feared they may be carried away. A train sent into the flooded district yesterday with supplies was unable to return as the flood rose in its wake and carried away several miles of railway.

CHAIR IS PENALTY IN ANDREWS DEATH

Macon, Ga., September 20.—(P)—October 14 was set by Judge Eschel Graham as the date Wilbur Galloway, Dodge county negro, should die in the electric chair at Milledgeville, after a jury in the Bibb superior court had found him guilty, without recommendation of the jury, of the murder of W. T. Andrews, of Alamo, at 9:15 o'clock Monday night. The jury deliberated only about ten minutes before they returned the verdict.

The trial of William Rountree, pal of Galloway, also under two indictments for murder in connection with the killing of Andrews, was continued on motion of the solicitor until further investigations could be made as to his part in the slaying.

WOMEN APPROACHING MIDDLE AGE

learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

"I had been in bad condition for three months. I could not do my work. One day I read what your medicine had done and just had a feeling that it would help me, so I sent and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had only taken half a bottle when I got up and started to do my work. It gave me an appetite, and helped me wonderfully. I can not praise this medicine highly enough. I surely will advise all women and girls to take it, and they don't have to use rouge to look healthy. My two daughters are taking it now and one is also using the Sanative Wash. I am willing to have you use this testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the medicine."—Mrs. HARVEY TUCKER, R. R. No. 2, Shelbyville, Indiana.

"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books you give away and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel better and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I feel like a different person. At anytime that I don't feel good I take the Vegetable Compound again, as I always keep a bottle on hand. You say use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me."—Mrs. JENNIE BOTTLEMAN, 611-11th St., Union City, N. J.

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be"

With their children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have several small doses, and soon they are all right.

"I have never found anything that took the place of Black-Draught as a purgative. I take it myself. Sometimes I wake up feeling dull and listless, a bad taste in my mouth and all sorts of aches. This is a danger signal for me. I know I need a laxative, so I take several small doses of Black-Draught, and in a day or so I am feeling quite myself again."

"I have seen that colds are more severe if constipation accompanies them, so I begin treating for it at the first sign of sickness. I give Black-Draught dry—just a pinch—

"I HAVE three little children, and they have had their share of children's ills," says Mrs. Frank Holder, who resides on R. F. D. 6, near DeKalb, Texas. "It has been my experience that, if their systems are kept free from impurities, they recover more quickly from illness."

"When one of the children complains of feeling bad, I immediately give a dose of Black-Draught. Constipation is the cause of much suffering, and I try to get that condition straightened out first. I use Black-Draught frequently, for the children do not mind taking it."

"I have seen that colds are more severe if constipation accompanies them, so I begin treating for it at the first sign of sickness. I give Black-Draught dry—just a pinch—

A Chess Draw.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, September 20. (AP)—The second game today for the world chess championship between Jose R. Capablanca, the Cuban master and titleholder, and Alexander Alekhine, the Russian challenger, ended in a draw after only 19 moves.

The city of Cahaba, now deserted, was once the capital of Alabama, points out an answered question in this week's Liberty.

At 8 o'clock the visitors paraded through the downtown streets in automobiles of Wichita Falls citizens.

A dance for the New Orleans visitors, Wichita Falls players and fans, which was given at the Kemp hotel, climaxed the reception.

Faist Stars In Tornado Scrimmage

Jackets Show Good Form in Long Workout on Tech Flats.

BY BEN COTHMAN. It would seem that Coach Alexander has found his best varsity backfield combination by throwing in a couple of sophomores and two reserves of last year, shaking them well, and evolving a ball carrying machine that can gain plenty of yardage against Hank Bjorkman's Red Devils.

That's what happened Tuesday afternoon at the Flats as the Jackets went through their second scrimmage as many days and the third of the season.

The principal thorn in the side of the scrubs Tuesday was a fast, shifty, squirming young sophomore halfback by the name of Faist who, by himself, must have gained more yardage Tuesday afternoon than all the other backs have done in the two previous scrimmishes.

Makes Long Gains. From the way this Mr. Faist manages to get the ball down the field, it seems as though the only way to stop him is chain him, for he was getting through openings about large enough for a cat to squeeze through, and he was getting through fast, often for long gains.

Faist's performance should give the other varsity backs something besides signals and keeping training to think about.

The remainder of the backfield Tuesday had Shulman at quarter, Bo Read running at half, Faist, and Oliz, another soph, at full. Read was getting through frequently for good gains, and Oliz was driving through the line in an effective fashion.

Shulman, a junior, didn't have such a smooth time of it at running the team, but he uncorked one long pass—to Ed Crowley—that looked good.

Tuesday's combination looked good and was far better than any Alex has tried yet. Shulman can chuck a fair pass and the putting Oliz man of the time compares favorably with that of Parham. All of the backs are light, and with the exception of Oliz, they are all good.

Line Looks Good. The serve line material at Tech is beginning to look up, as was demonstrated Tuesday. Alex threw in Lillard and Westbrook at guards; Hood and Thrash, then Spear and Watkins at tackles. The Lillard, Westbrook, Spear, Watkins combination was in the scrimmage most of its duration and worked well. After much shifting around, Bjorkman has been working Crowley and Holland on the flanks, and it wouldn't be surprising to see this pair in the games later on.

Old man "Charley Horse" has made his appearance and several of the squad show a perceptible limp. Firpo Martin, a big guard, has a bad knee, and also Heeke, who was out of uniform Tuesday.

While Alex's new varsity combination was engaging the Devils, Don Miller had the rest of the squad at the lower end of the field and the entire afternoon was spent in signal drill and dummy scrimmage.

Every day brings the opening till with V. M. L. nearer and if the rest of the backs can make a showing such as Faist, Read, et al, made Tuesday, everything will be much better.

INDIAN GRID TEAM IS DUE LAST OF WEEK

Chief Sampson Owl and his Cherokee Indian footballers from the Cherokee reservation in North Carolina will arrive in Atlanta the latter part of the week, probably Friday, to stage an Indian's version of football for Atlanta sports fans at Grant field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The game of football, as the Indians play, is vastly different from the collegiate game. The game is over when one team has made 12 goals, and until that time there is no time taken out or no rest periods. The ball, about half-way between a tennis ball and a golf ball in size, may be carried in the hands, under the arm or in the mouth. Gouging, biting, slugging, tripping and any other means of hindrance to a player are as far as a day in June, and only technical fouls can be committed. When one of these technical fouls bobs up, each side has a heater who immediately steps in and does his duty.

Fast and Exciting. It is a fast and exciting game, something the like of which Atlantans have never had a chance to see. It is new and novel and aside from the fact that the American league is staging the game to use the proceeds for defraying expenses of the Sandlot league, which the legion is sponsoring, any one who goes to see the game will be able to say that he's seen something when the affair is over.

KNOW YOUR JACKETS

"COOT" WATKINS. This stalwart and upright young man is a sophomore at Tech and you'll probably see his name occupying the space opposite "right tackle" a number of times before this football season of 1927 fades out along with a dull December sunset.

Bill Fincher says he's a good line-man and full of fight. When Bill Fincher says anyone is good you can count on his being better than that. Standing well over six feet, with a generous apportionment of poundage, Watkins is able to raise considerable of a rumpus with any man's line in this southern conference.

He prepped at Tech High school, playing guard on the same team with Stumpy Thompson, Glenn Holland and Cedartown Rusk which won the southern prep title in 1924. All of the above mentioned lads are now members of Tech's varsity squad. Watkins will probably hear a lot about him.

Cardinals Tie With Giants For 2d Place

Homers Aid St. Louis in Downing Phillies by 5-4 Count.

St. Louis, September 20. (AP)—Successful homers by Frisch and Hafey in the seventh inning enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to make it five in a row over the Phillies and win the final game of the series today, 5 to 4.

The victory put the Cardinals into a tie with the New York Giants in second place and but three games behind the league-leading Pirates, who lost to Brooklyn. Although the Cards still have a mathematical chance to win the pennant, the public apparently did not think much of the prospects and not more than 1,200 attended.

Ullrich, the Philadelphia pitching ace, allowed the Cards only seven hits, but the grouping of two doubles and a single with a walk and a sacrifice in the first inning, which netted the Cards three runs, together with the seventh inning homers, proved his undoing.

Shivel allowed the visitors ten safeties. He had one bad inning, the fifth, in which the Phillies got three singles and a triple to score three runs. A ninth inning rally, fell short with one run when Cooney doubled, advanced on Friberg's single and came home on the squeeze play.

Series Squared.

Albany, N. Y., September 20. (AP) Buffalo's International league champions squared the post-season series with Albany, pennant winner in the Eastern league, by winning the second game here today, 1 to 0. Jack Hopkins allowed Buffalo only two hits, both singles, and Jimmy Wiltse held the Senators to three safeties.

kins pleased even Kid Clay with his playing on the rat squad last season and keep an eye on him this fall. You'll probably hear a lot about him.

BOX SCORE

St. Louis, September 20. (AP)—Successful homers by Frisch and Hafey in the seventh inning enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to make it five in a row over the Phillies and win the final game of the series today, 5 to 4.

The victory put the Cardinals into a tie with the New York Giants in second place and but three games behind the league-leading Pirates, who lost to Brooklyn. Although the Cards still have a mathematical chance to win the pennant, the public apparently did not think much of the prospects and not more than 1,200 attended.

Ullrich, the Philadelphia pitching ace, allowed the Cards only seven hits, but the grouping of two doubles and a single with a walk and a sacrifice in the first inning, which netted the Cards three runs, together with the seventh inning homers, proved his undoing.

Shivel allowed the visitors ten safeties. He had one bad inning, the fifth, in which the Phillies got three singles and a triple to score three runs. A ninth inning rally, fell short with one run when Cooney doubled, advanced on Friberg's single and came home on the squeeze play.

Leaders Slip As Brooklyn Wins, 3 To 0

Pittsburgh, September 20.—The Robins handed the league-leading Pirates their second consecutive shutout defeat today, 3 to 0, as Bill Doak, veteran flinger of spitballs, held the Corsairs to two hits. Only one Pittsburgh player reached second base. The reversal cut the Pirate margin on the peak to three games. The second-place Giants, enjoying two off days on their schedule, saw the contest from the stands. They are slated to open a four-game series here Thursday.

Doak yielded three bases on balls, all going to Paul Waner. The only hits made off him were a double by Goetz in the third and a single by Lloyd Waner in the sixth.

Incidentally, the Pirates have not scored a run since the club started taking applications for world series tickets yesterday.

Scrimmage Slated Today For Bulldogs

Rats Turn Out for Annual Grind; Injured Men Return.

BY BOB SHERROD. Athens, Ga., September 20.—After a day's layoff on Monday the Georgia Bulldogs again assembled on Sanford field for Tuesday's practice with a full roster. The innovation of the day was the gathering of some 65 freshmen who were put through their paces by Coaches White and Kilpatrick.

The freshmen are as varied as only freshmen can be—some small, some large, some looking promising, some hopeless—in fact, all kinds, probably quite a few more will report for the next couple of weeks. After a few exercises, punting, passing, and so forth, the rats were given a long lecture by the coaches, concerning their conduct, classes, football, etc.

All the injured members of the varsity were in uniform Tuesday with the exception of Kelly McCutchen, who, it is reported, is out for the season. Broadnax, McGuire, Hooks, Butler, Smith, were all out wearing only a slight limp as a result of their hurts.

Another hard scrimmage is scheduled for Wednesday and on Thursday the varsity and freshmen will mix it for the first time. Glenn Lautzenhiser, varsity tackle of last year, who has been out as a result of an appendix operation, will arrive in Athens tomorrow but probably quite a period of time will elapse before he will be able to participate in any strenuous workout. However, his recovery from the operation has been remarkably

Jack Dempsey May Enter Ring Favorite Over Gene Tunney

Last-Minute Preparations Being Rushed

Commission Draws Up Rules For Battle; Third Man Unknown.

Chicago, September 20.—(AP)—Pre-battle preparations for the 10-round Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship match Thursday night at Soldier field approached a climax today with these outstanding developments:

1. Continued report of a decided drift in Jack Dempsey's favor, with wagers on Gene Tunney down to odds of 6 to 5 in many instances and prospects of even money betting by tomorrow.

2. A new "flood" of counterfeit tickets, of all denominations from $5 to $40, announced by Tex Rickard and resulting in increased vigilance by federal and local agents.

3. Conference of state athletic commission with rival managers of fighters on rules, together with reports that commission had further whittled down the referee candidates to three men, generally supposed to be Walter Eckersall, newspaperman; George Lytton, business man, and David Miller, wealthy sportsman and veteran official of Chicago.

4. Dismissal in federal court of suit by Rev. Elmer Williams to stop fight on grounds it endangers public morals, and postponement until tomorrow of application for permanent injunction by Coliseum Athletic club based on claims of prior contract with Dempsey to fight Harry Wills here last year.

5. Reiteration by Dempsey of alleged efforts to "frame" his losing battle with Tunney last year, the basis of the ex-champion's now famous "open letter" and assertion that he still was determined to force an answer from the titleholder.

In spite of the absence of any visible basis for such fluctuation, particularly since Dempsey and Tunney impressed critics about equally in their latest workouts, wagering cir-

A. J. T., Coca-Cola Nines Meet Today

The Atlanta Joint terminal baseball team, champions of the Atlanta league, will play the Coca-Cola pastimers this afternoon at Spiller's in a game that will probably have direct bearing on the city amateur championship for 1927. Officials in charge of the game have announced that there will be no charge for admission. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

cles today reported a swing in Dempsey's favor. An influx of so-called "New York wise money," it was said, would prompt at least even money and perhaps establish Dempsey as a favorite by Thursday night. This, however, was chiefly gossip. Most bets actually recorded remained on a basis of prevailing odds, 7 to 5 in Tunney's favor.

The question, "Who do you like?" is heard everywhere as advance throngs arrive from all parts of the world to make up the record-breaking assemblage of between 150,000 and 160,000 spectators and a gate that may be anywhere from $2,500,000 to $3,200,000.

Fully half of the crowd is expected to consist of visitors arriving here by special trains, automobiles, airplanes and boats. The "peak" of the incoming rush is expected Thursday morning.

So far as the referee is concerned, "he will not know himself he has been selected until the boxers climb into the ring." Paul Prehn, member of the state athletic commission, declared John Riggins, the chairman, indicated no definite selection had yet been made but the understanding was that it was now confined to the three previously mentioned men, Lytton, Eckersall and Miller.

The commission's already established rules, governing details of the battle's conduct, were gone over with Dempsey's manager, Leo Fynn, and Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager. Each fighter will be limited to 200 feet gauze bandage, 14 for each hand, with enough adhesive tape to hold it. His other equipment will be donated under observance of the commission's inspectors.

Gene To Plan Ring Attack After Gong

"It All Depends on Dempsey, How He Fights," Says Champ

Lake Villa, Ill., September 20.—(AP)—The self-same strategy that carried Gene Tunney to the heavyweight throne in the battle of the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia last fall will guide the big marine in defense of his heavyweight crown against the former champion, Jack Dempsey, in Soldier field Thursday night.

While around 150,000 spectators watch from the blackness of the huge stadium two gladiators battling for a purse of $1,450,000, Tunney believes he will stab Dempsey off balance continually with a cutting left hand and hammer out just as decisive a victory with solid right crosses as he did in their first encounter a year ago.

Analyzing the situation calmly at the close of five months of training for the record-shattering battle of the distant istas, Tunney can see ahead only the opportunity to complete the job he left unfinished in the driving rain at Philadelphia. Although his champion shines at predicting a knockout victory, he believes that such an ending alone can establish the supremacy he feels over Dempsey. Tunney's best chance for a knockout, he feels, probably will be in one of the last three rounds, from the eighth to the tenth.

Gene will enter the ring pledged to no definite style of milling, however. "My plan of battle depends entirely on what Dempsey does, how he fights, and the opportunities fate throws in my path," he said. "I may nail him with a right smash or fight him in the first seconds of fighting as I did last September. If that happens Dempsey cannot evade a knockout this time."

"Then again Jack may take everything I have and keep his feet. Ten rounds really is not very long, you know. In that event I probably shall fight him as I did at Philadelphia, wearing him down with a steady attack. Certainly I shall not feel that I have completed my job if Dempsey is erect when the final gong rings. Into whatever style of milling Tunney elects, however, there probably will be a bit of the change that has crept, almost unnoticed, into the titleholder's bearing and ring work during the past year. For Gene now is the champion—a proud champion—pre-eminently confident that he can whip any man in the sport he rules. Never again, critics believe, could Tunney reconcile himself solely to a "hit and run" defense, even though desertion of the counter style of fighting that won the title suddenly became the sole means of preserving the crown at some point in the impending battle of Chicago's lake front.

Gene Grows Popular. Close observers attribute this attitude not only to confidence that came with winning the title, but the growing popularity of the former marine. Less than a year ago a huge fight gathering in Madison Square Garden booted the champion after acclaiming Dempsey. Yet three weeks ago, when Tunney came to Chicago to complete his training, more than 250,000 persons were in the jam at the railroad station, jammed in a semi-private reception, and lined his path through the city. Probably without his knowledge that new-found popularity has bred in Tunney a desire to prove himself a great champion.

Tunney has lost nothing of speed and ability in a year's lay-off from the ring. In that year of almost constant training, Gene has built his fighting weight to 190 pounds and has stripped pounds from his hip and waist to add to the development of shoulders and arms. At the same time he has increased his speed, foot, improved timing, judgment of distance and punching power.

Counting on Right. While seldom a knockout puncher with either hand, the title holder has developed a right to heart or head that he believes will send Dempsey to the canvas. Tunney must prove that he can weather a storm of body punches such as Dempsey will crash to his heart and stomach.

There is no doubt in Gene's mind, however, of his ability to stand up under punishment and battle out the victory at any style or ring warfare.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

Will Babe Break the Record? The National league race may hold the center of interest as football threatens to replace baseball as the topic of the moment, but the race against time now being staged by George Herman Ruth, the inter-locutor of baseball's minstrels, is not without its gripping interest.

Heard a conversation between two office boys yesterday which is sustenance for interesting conjecture. It seems that one of these necessary nuisances had bet the other that the Babe would tie or beat his 1921 record of 59 home runs. The one who had bet on the Babe was trying valiantly to convince himself that he had a good bet.

Here's the way his logic went:—"Ruth now has 54 homers to his credit for the season and that leaves just five more in eight more scheduled games, all in the Yankee stadium. 'The short rightfield fence in the Yankee park will help considerably to bring up the total and the fact that the pennant race is now decided will cause the opposing pitchers to let up a bit and groove one in a while.

"In fact," quoth this young self-convinced, "if I was a pitcher and I had a chance I'd let Babe Ruth hit one just for the publicity the league would get out of it. What good does it do a second division pitcher to beat the Yankees even if he has a chance?" At first the monologue of the gambling office boy was just funny and when it began to take on a light of logic and now we are interested ourselves in just how near the kid came to hitting the spike on the top-knot.

"They Quit Countin'." As near as can be figured from the avalanche of advance dope coming from the region of the "American Riviera," the Atlanta Athletic club swimming team is in for a very, very busy afternoon Saturday if they wish to remain swimming champions of Dixie. The Coral Gables outfit, coming up to take the club bacon back to the sunshine state, boasts that it could leave all but one member behind and win enough points to get possession of the meet.

Whether or not this is true remains for the coming Saturday to tell but it is significant that the Coral Gables outfit was so far out in front at the Florida association meet that "they just quit countin'" as one of the Daytona boys expressed it. And it is doubly significant that this Mr. Shields, of the Gables team, scored a majority of these points. Dave Young, national title holder in the back stroke and one of the greatest stars of the club team, probably will not be in Atlanta soon enough for the meet Saturday and it is rumored that Pete Desjardins, national diving champion on several occasions, will swim under Coral Gables colors.

This last is just a rumor but if true, Buster Harris and Bill Murray will have something to shoot at Saturday when they do their dips from the three-meter board.

A. A. C. Faces Strong Team In Meet Here

Coral Gables Sends Bunch of Crack Tank Stars To Battle Club.

With the solemn promise coming from Coral Gables that the swimmers of that city will come here Saturday and kick much water in the faces of the Atlanta Athletic club team members, interest in the dual meet set for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at East Lake is approaching a point of combustion.

The A. A. C. outfit has ruled the Southeastern association with such an iron hand for many years that they had begun to believe themselves invincible. And the best efforts of the Daytona Beach team last week should not change this conclusion. But now there looms on the horizon a nemesis in the form of one Mr. Shields of the Coral Gables team, who is reputed to be the fastest thing in southern waters and who swims all the events from the 50-yard dash to the mile and is not particular whether the style be free, back or breast.

A Team Himself. This gentleman piled up so many points for the Coral Gables contenders in the recent Florida meet that his outfit won under double wraps. The A. A. C. will be without one of its best stars Saturday with Dave Young in New York, but if determination is any factor toward success the Atlanta entry will not place second in the meet.

The public is invited to witness the meet Saturday and the club committee has made it plain that spectators need not be members of the club or any other such organization to be welcome at the lake. These meets are being held to aid in reviving the interest in water sports in Atlanta and without the moral support of the public this can not be accomplished. There will be no admission price Saturday.

Southeastern Ends 2d Year

Montgomery, Ala., September 20.—(AP)—The Southeastern league, finishing its second season today, has developed into a powerful minor league organization, and prospects for 1928 are bright. President Cliff Green said in a formal statement today.

Charlotte, N. Special League

Body Will Pass

On Security Pact

Geneva, September 20.—(AP)—In order to bring the United States, which, though represented on the League of Nations preparatory commission for a disarmament conference, is not a member of the league itself, it is planned tonight to submit the study of the suggested French security pact to a special committee of disarmament commission when that body meets.

At one of the last sessions of that commission the American delegates made it clear that the Washington government would take no part in systems of security which might be deemed desirable to accompany the disarmament program, but that it, of course, did not object to other countries proceeding with separate security accords.

Final Accord

The subcommittee engaged in drafting a disarmament and security project to be submitted to the assembly and to serve as a guide to the league preparatory commission, which terminated its work tonight without reaching a final accord on the text. It is hoped to draw up a definite formula tomorrow, after which the full disarmament committee in the afternoon or the following day.

Mr. Paul-Boncour announced today that the disarmament committee had agreed on the principles of its security project embodying the fundamental French ideas on security. This plan provides for a graduated system of security among nations in conjunction with reduction of armaments.

No English Objection

It now seems clear that the project to be submitted by the subcommittee will give satisfaction to both Mr. Paul-Boncour of France, and Count Von Bernstorff of Germany, while England, which is represented by the Earl of Onslow on the subcommittee, will, it is said, raise no objection to the French suggestion.

COAL DOCTOR

FINED ON MOTOR SECTION CHARGE

Cartersville, Ga., September 20.—(United News.)—President Cogswade's general election, called to clarify the political situation, has disclosed nothing but the fact that Irishmen as a whole are unable to decide under which political banner they want to march.

Final unofficial returns tonight give the party lineup as follows: Government supporters—government party, 61; independents, 12; farmers, 6-70.

Opposition—republicans, 57; labor, 13; national league, 2; workers league, 1-73.

Thus Cogswade, with a coalition majority of 6, is still dependent on the support of other parties for his political life.

It is expected that he will form a government along the lines of his present one, and that the independents and farmers will continue to support him and his policy of carrying out the treaty with Great Britain that accords Ireland dominion status.

Edmond de Valera, republican leader, is enraged over the result of the election and accuses the government of having conducted its campaign "without regard for truth or fair play."

The election is regarded as meaning nothing but that Ireland will continue as it has been going until another crisis arises.

Dr. Owen Makes Plea For More Church Loyalty

Purging power of the "blood of Jesus" will clarify the sin beset world and prepare it to be the medium through which the radiance of "God himself" can be seen in the world.

Dr. William Russell Owen, pastor of the University Baptist church of Coral Gables, declared Tuesday night in a sermon at the Gordon Street church, where he is conducting a series of revival services.

More than 75 persons accepted the invitation to "rededicate their lives to the church and to the service of Christ," extended by Rev. Dr. Owen.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor, assisted in the meeting, and Elmer Slinger, superintendent of the Baptist Tabernacle class at the University, had charge of the musical program.

The meetings will continue for two weeks with one service each morning at 10 o'clock and another at 7:30 o'clock each night, except Saturdays.

"Human nature, if left to itself, is as wild as any other kind of God's nature," Dr. Owen said, "and in moments of ungodly revolt, sometimes is swept away like the stormy elements have reached from the stormy bosoms of the Atlantic and Pacific and snatched the planes which have attempted to navigate the uncharted air courses over the water wastes."

"The challenge to the church member today is to a new loyalty. A Christian must guard his every moment against the encroachments of evil. I warn you to stand a diligent guard over yourselves so that the enemy may not catch you unawares, and despoil you of life."

"Although human nature is capable of so great achievement in the service of the church and in the service of the doctrine of Christianity, it misses measuring up to the requirements of heaven's mansions until it is changed by the finger of God's omnipotence in a new creation we call conversion."

"We must have God to stem the storms of life successfully. I pray you to get right with God, heed His voice and choose the right way to everlasting life."

Following a series of burglaries in the vicinity of Highland and Ponce de Leon avenues, New York City detectives C. L. Taylor and J. C. Davis jailed a negro, Lee Jenkins, 24, of 353 Old Wheat street in connection with the burglaries.

ATLANTA DOCTOR

FINED ON MOTOR SECTION CHARGE

Cartersville, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Dr. H. L. Parks, of 680 Elmwood drive, Atlanta, was adjudged guilty of violating a section of the Georgia motor vehicle law and fined $125 or six months on the chain gang after a hearing here last afternoon.

The case grew out of an accident on the Dixie highway nine miles north of town last Saturday afternoon when Nolan Barlow, 17, of Cochran, Ga., had his left arm so badly crushed an amputation below the elbow was necessary.

The particular section under which Dr. Parks was convicted related to the charge that he failed to give the approaching car his part of the road.

Dr. Parks returned to his home in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon after having been found guilty of violation of a section of the Georgia motor vehicle law and fined $125, which he immediately paid. He declined to comment on the case.

A. W. CARMICHAEL DIES AT HOSPITAL

Arthur W. Carmichael, 83, of East Point, Ga., father of Howard L. Carmichael, prominent East Point undertaker and former prominent citizen of McDonough, Ga., died Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at a private hospital, following an illness of several days. He had been in failing health for some time.

Funeral services for Mr. Carmichael will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the McDonough Presbyterian church. The Rev. L. D. King will officiate and interment will be in McDonough cemetery. The funeral party will leave the J. Austin Dillon funeral parlors on South Pryor street at 8:30 o'clock and go to McDonough by automobile.

Mr. Carmichael was known as a wealthy citizen of McDonough and at the time of his death owned several large tracts of land in Henry county. He was formerly for 12 years tax receiver of Henry county and also took an active part in church and civic activities of the county. He was an elder in the McDonough Presbyterian church, at which church his final rites will be held Thursday.

In addition to his son, Mr. Carmichael is survived by his wife, three other sons, W. M. Carmichael, of Marietta, Texas, and S. R. and P. M. Carmichael and three daughters, Mrs. C. D. Beeland, Mrs. T. A. Lisey, of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Mrs. J. Harper, of Birmingham, Ala.

G. R. ALLISON FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for George R. Allison, Atlanta branch manager of the Fox Film corporation, who died suddenly Monday morning in Valdosta, Ga., will be held this morning at 11 o'clock from All Saints church.

The Rev. L. O. Bricker, will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Willard Patterson, Fuzzy Woodruff, Carl Vestman, R. S. McClure, Fred C. Groover, L. B. Remy, John T. Ezell, B. S. Bryan and Cyril B. Smith will serve as pallbearers and meet at 10:30 o'clock at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Allison was returning to the city from a business trip to Florida with Paul C. Brown, a friend and associate and had stopped over in Valdosta for the night. He had been feeling badly but after attention from a physician he was relieved. When Mr. Bryan knocked on his door Monday morning he received no response and on opening it found Mr. Allison dead.

He had been connected with the film business for many years and since 1919 had been in charge of the Atlanta office of the Fox Film corporation. He was president of the Film Board of Trade and was widely known in the business.

He is survived by his widow and a brother, Charles Allison, of Philadelphia, Pa.

A. V. GUDE, JR., IS LAID TO REST IN WEST VIEW

Final rites for A. V. Gude, Jr., formerly a well-known local builder, found Saturday in a downtown office with two bullet holes beneath his heart, were held Tuesday morning from his home, 142 Seventeenth street. The Rev. W. W. Memminger officiated and interment was in West View cemetery.

Many of the city's largest buildings were erected under Mr. Gude's direction. He was a Yale graduate.

An inquest brought out that his death had probably resulted from despondency over ill health.

The pallbearers were A. A. Doonan, in whose office Mr. Gude's body was found; John Morris, Jr., Dr. F. M. Sutton, Dr. C. O. Howard, Lynn Werner and J. W. Worthy.

UNKNOWN FEDERAL SOLDIER IS BURIED HOPE FOR URGENT

Marietta, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Three rifle volleys, a soldier's final salute to his dead, and "taps," blown by a veteran bugler of the world war, as a last farewell, and another Unknown Soldier tonight peacefully sleeps in his last resting place.

In the National cemetery here, a tiny new white cross briefly tells that this unidentified man died in the service of the United States in the Battle of Atlanta.

A military funeral was given today to the body of a Union soldier found last Friday when workmen were making excavations for the school to be named after Frank L. Stanton, famous southern poet and member of the Atlanta Constitution staff.

Bits of a blue uniform and brass buttons were identified by army officers as belonging to the Union forces during the Battle of Atlanta. The body was found near what were ruins of infantry trenches and artillery emplacements. The buttons led officers to believe that the dead soldier was a member of the federal artillery.

Chaplain John Hill, of Fort McPherson, paid a rough, roughly unknown dead. The firing squad and bugler were from the forces of the fort.

J. S. HARLAN, FORMER I. C. C. MEMBER, DIES

Essex, N. Y., September 20.—(AP.)—James S. Harlan, a former member of the interstate commerce commission, died at his summer home here tonight. He had been ill several weeks.

Hot Springs, Ark., September 20.—(AP.)—The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, meeting in 1034 annual convention here today, elected Dean Leon Merrill, of the University of Maine, grand sire and Frank Martin, attorney general of Boise, Idaho, deputy grand sire, selected Montreal, Canada, as the next convention city and heard resolutions proposing the establishment of a junior branch of the organization.

Montreal was the 1928 convention in a contest with Charleston, S. C. J. Edward Kroch, Baltimore, grand secretary, and William E. Coe, Marysville, Ky., grand treasurer, were elected without opposition. William A. Pittenger, Duluth, Minn., submitted a resolution proposing the organization of a junior order of Odd Fellows, a similar resolution for the formation of a junior order of Rebekahs, was presented to that branch of the organization by Miss Dora Sexton, of Ohio.

Another resolution offered by Beckman Overstreet, of Louisville, Ky., suggested the establishment of a life membership.

Revision of the ritual of the order also was recommended by a special committee headed by Joseph Powley, of Toronto, Canada.

The revision would be to shorten the ritual.

Two new jurisdictions in New York and Wisconsin were added to the order of Rebekahs; meeting in conjunction with the parent organization, the Odd Fellows.

Kansas City, Mo., September 20.—(AP.)—The druggists of the nation must become active in practical politics in order to "get in" in political life and obtain their rights," Samuel C. Davis, of Nashville, Tenn., president of the National Association of Retail Druggists, told the twenty-ninth annual convention of the association today.

The retail druggist of today has more power to influence public opinion than the old liquor regime ever had," he said in pointing out that the corner drug store has become the favorite place of the public.

"We have it in our power to so mold public opinion that we can successfully carry out any plan of progressive legislation," he said. "Locally, we can organize a political unit, we can command the attention of practical politicians, unorganized, they are at our disposal. Where we get off."

Davis recommended an organization of secretaries of state pharmacists, associations in the case nearest to meet with the national legislative committee to devise plans for "an aggressive nation-wide organization along political lines."

Sheffield, Ala., September 20.—(AP.)—A search for Marie Bishop, East Florence woman, and her parents, principal witnesses in the case against her alleged sweetheart, Jim Kelley, charged with flogging the young woman, was started Tuesday when the three failed to appear in circuit court to testify. The court ordered the sheriff to start a search for the girl and her parents, but late Tuesday they had not been heard from.

At the sheriff's office it was stated that Bishop and his wife and daughter visited Kelley at the jail Monday night. Since that time they had not been seen by officers, it was stated. The court ordered the trial of Kelley to be postponed while the witnesses are being sought.

Marie Bishop claimed that she was taken from her home some weeks ago and whipped by a midnight band of floggers.

Callahan, a dry democratic leader of Louisville, Ky., and a prominent member of the dry progressive league today the dry progressive democrats will hold a conference in Chicago next December to select a presidential ticket to oppose Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, in the 1928 democratic convention.

Leadership in calling the meeting has been accepted by W. W. Durbin, former state chairman of the democratic committee of Ohio. Callahan said. Delegates from southern states and those west of the Alleghenies will be asked to attend, according to Callahan, and choose a successor to William G. GERMAN FLIER HOPE FOR URGENT

Budapest, Hungary, September 20.—(AP.)—Captain Otto Koennecke's plane, the Germania, passed over Budapest by unfavorable weather. He now proposes to fly rapidly in an easterly direction. The plane flew high but the motor was plainly heard.

Koennecke starts
TRIP FOR AMERICA.

Cologne, Germany, September 20.—(AP.)—The "everyday to start" Captain Otto Koennecke, as newspapers have been labeling him, took off in easterly direction this afternoon for America by way of the Orient.

He hopped off at 2:22 p. m. in his one-engine biplane and was with two companions, after being balked for more than five weeks in his long prepared-for flight across the Atlantic by unfavorable weather. He now proposes to cheat this by attempting to reach the goal from the other direction.

His ambitious plan calls for making his first stop at Angora, Turkey. If he succeeds in this it will be no mean performance in itself as calls for a non-stop flying of a roughly 1,000 miles. After Angora, Koennecke will be guided by weather conditions. And he hopes to make his way in his one-engine biplane to the barren Aleutian islands from which he hopes to reach San Francisco is not yet determined.

The total weight of the Germania at the take-off was 3,300 kilograms, which included 1,280 kilograms of gasoline and 150 of oil. The provisions taken by the aviators include one quart of coffee, beef tea and ice water, a bottle of brandy and sandwiches, bananas and pineapple and their total weight is 10 pounds.
